Sayre and Dunbar Students Showcase Their Amalgamations

Opening Reception, Friday, April 8, 6-8pm
Exhibition April 8-23

WHAT: Sayre School and Paul Laurence Dunbar High School students showcase their amalgamation creations in response to Robert Morgan: Myths and Stories at 21C Museum Hotel Lexington.

WHO: Organized by Sayre art teacher Althea Wiggs and Paul Laurence Dunbar art teacher Debbie Eller, student artists return to exhibit their creations transformed by reflection and community.

WHEN: Opening Reception this evening, Friday, April 8, 2022, 6-8pm

WHERE: The Parachute Factory, 720 Bryan Avenue, Lexington

WHY: In response to 21C's Robert Morgan museum exhibition, Sayre and Dunbar high school students make their own amalgamations.

Spanning various perspectives and repurposing of everyday objects, students explored new ways of expression that resulted in a collection of delightfully wondrous assemblages.

Through individualized and collaborative processes in mixed media, these works address such themes as isolation, contemporary culture, and consumption.

Our Mission:
