About the Roseburg School Bond

1

How could improving our schools help the community?

Communities with good schools can impact home values, encourage people to stay and invest in the local area, and can supply the local economy with better skilled workers and professionals. Additionally, good schools can improve community pride, connections, and a sense of belonging.

2

Would the community have access to updated facilities?

The proposed new multipurpose gym facilities, in addition to freeing up space for meal service, PE and rainy-day recess at five elementary schools, would be available for community meetings, athletics and other events. They could also be used as emergency shelters if needed. The proposed new elementary school playgrounds would also be available for neighborhood use.

3

How does a large construction project affect local jobs?

Large-scale construction projects similar to those in this bond proposal can have many positive impacts on the local economy. A typical new school construction project will employ hundreds of people during the design and construction phases.
