

Josh: I miss the team part about basketball. I think that part was the most fun. Tennis is all about you. You're in your own head. There's no one else there for you, really. But playing on a team like SAAS or in college, you're a part of a team, cheering each other on, traveling together, which is way different than what I'm doing right now.

Marc: Who has been your biggest tennis influence?

Josh: I would say my private coach Gordon O'Reilly. He's been my coach since the beginning. He's really motivated me to get better and to continue to improve.

Marc: Who's your favorite tennis player?

Josh: Dominic Thiem.

WHAT'S NEXT - Have you picked a college yet?

Josh: Yes! I will be continuing my tennis career at University of Redlands in California!
