Alejandro has High level of intensity and Gifted children respond to life with greater emotion than the average person. They tend to be very passionate about an area of interest to them and can sustain that passion for long periods of time. Sometimes their behavior can even seem obsessive compulsive. Alejandro has this characteristic, today when he finished his work, he advanced the robot project, an activity scheduled for tomorrow, making the design and almost completing the elaboration! I really enjoyed listening to him say "let me think! let me think! and imagine my robot! ~B. Hiriart
