

Psychology: Semester long class for Seniors or Juniors

Credit: 0.5 Social Studies / 0.5 Elective

Psychology is the study of human behavior and mental processes. Since it is only a semester, students get to choose several of the more interesting units including “Dreams; Perception; Memory; Social elements; or Motivation of humans.

The University of Washington now gives college credit for this class if enough students sign up for those credits.

