This calendar aims to help partners keep track of our region's Business Advisory Council's affiliated events, meetings, initiatives, and career connection weeks of action. We've also inserted some suggested language around when we recommend district leadership step back and reevaluate their career connections work.

You'll find our six BAC working groups meetings, including our newly formed Warren County Working Group. You'll also see we have included our Career Champions Quarterly Meetings. Coordinating with national and statewide partners, we've included six different national career connections weeks of action as well as our MCESC Computer Science Educators Network.

Please feel free to reach out to our Workforce Director, Bryan Stewart if you have any questions. Email him at: bryan.stewart@mcesc.org

Notes

10/1 - National Manufacturing Day

On October 1, 2021, manufacturers across America will open their doors and open young minds by hosting an MFG Day event. MFG Day is focused on events to promote manufacturing to students, parents and educators for the first Friday in, and throughout, the month of October. MFG Day empowers manufacturers to come together to address their collective challenges so they can help their communities and future generations thrive. <https://www.creatorswanted.org/resources/>

September 2021 - Assess your students' Career Aptitudes and Interests

School has begun and now one of the most critical moments in our BAC work begins, identifying students for our upcoming events and initiatives. Our region's employers set aside valuable time to connect with our schools and students, because of this we ask that you participate in aptitude and interest assessments (like YouScience or Naviance) so you can properly direct students to our carefully organized options. For instance, if we're going to send out an industry rep from a local tech company, we ask that you try to market this opportunity to your students that have aligned aptitudes and interests to this type of career.

October 2021 - Month-long advanced manufacturing events and opportunities

Manufacturing Month (MFG Month) is one of our area’s longest held career exploration weeks of action. Traditionally students either leave their buildings to visit employers or employers visit their buildings. We recommend counselors set up times with their students to host student counseling sessions to review their YouScience results so they can begin to prioritize their possible pathways in and after high school. Placing the following year’s students into local pathways should begin in the fall.
