

Summer Reading List

2022

For students entering Pre-K thru Grade 2

Our summer reading list includes books that were recommended, not only by teachers, but also by Tower School students. Just like adults, other children are often the best source for book recommendations. Keep in mind, however, that every child is unique in terms of their reading level, interests, and maturity. And, that these books are recommendations but that there are many, many more books to choose from at your local library.

Don't forget to check out biographies, magazines, non fiction and poetry, too! Shel Silverstein, Jack Prelutsky, and Mary Ann Hoberman are just a few of our favorite poets. We hope that everyone finds a "Home Run" book this summer. In other words, any book that your child will remember in the years to come and that keeps them reading!

How to Make a Book Jacket

1. Use a sheet of 12" x 18" construction paper in a light color. From the left side, measure in 3 inches, then 6 inches, then 6 inches, and then 3 inches.

- 2. Lightly draw vertical lines at each spot you measured. Then the paper can be folded inward along the lines. Check with the diagram below.
- 3. Follow the directions below for the information to put on each panel.

Front Cover: On the front cover you need to include the title of the book, the author's name, your name, and an interesting picture drawn by you that represents something important in the book.
Back Cover: On the back cover write a description of the setting and a summary of the events in the book. Remember, the summary states the facts, not what you thought about the book. Inside Front Flap: Write a detailed description of the main character of the book.

Inside Back Flap: Write down the reasons why you liked the book. Try to sell others on reading this book.

Incoming 6th grade students are expected to read three books this summer. Of course, students are strongly encouraged to read well beyond this list. Please bring both books to class when we all return in September.

Book #1 will be The Giver by Lois Lowry. If you're already read it, please read it again! We will base our first reading unit on The Giver.

Book #2 will be Esperanza Rising by Pam Munoz Ryan. If you're already read it, please read it again!

Book #3 will be a book of their choice.

Additional recommended books:

Insignificant Events in the Life of a Cactus by Dusti Bowling

Aven Green loves to tell people that she lost her arms in an alligator wrestling match, or a wildfire in Tanzania, but the truth is she was born without them. And when her parents take a job running Stagecoach Pass, a rundown western theme park in Arizona, Aven moves with them across the country knowing that she'll have to answer the question over and over again.

Out of My Mind by Sharon M. Draper

Eleven-year-old Melody is not like most people. She can't walk. She can't talk. She can't write. All because she has cerebral palsy. But she also has a photographic memory; she can remember every detail of everything she has ever experienced. She's the smartest kid in her whole school, but NO ONE knows it. Melody refuses to be defined by her disability. And she's determined to let everyone know it... somehow.

The Red Kayak by Priscilla Cummings

Living near the water on Maryland's Eastern Shore, thirteen-year-old Brady and his best friends J.T. and Digger become entangled in a tragedy which tests their friendship and their ideas about right and wrong.

Tangerine by Edward Bloor

Twelve year old Paul, who lives in the shadow of his football hero brother Erik, fights for the right to play soccer despite his near blindness and slowly begins to remember the incident that damaged his eyesight.

Everything Sad is Untrue by Daniel Nayeri

Twelve-year-old Iranian refugee Khosrou moves to Oklahoma where he goes by Daniel and models himself after the legendary storyteller Scheherazade as he weaves tales that reflect his perseverance and reinvention.

When you Reach Me by Rebecca Stead

As her mother prepares to be a contestant on the 1970s television game show, "The $20,000 Pyramid," a twelve-year-old New York City girl tries to make sense of a series of mysterious notes received from an anonymous source that seems to defy the laws of time and space.

Track (series) by Jason Reynolds

Ghost. Patina. Sunny. Lu. A fast but fiery group of kids from wildly different backgrounds, chosen to compete on an elite track team. They all have a lot to lose, but they also have a lot to prove, not only to each other, but to themselves.

A Night Divided by Jennifer Nielsen

With the rise of the Berlin Wall, Gerta finds her family suddenly divided. She, her mother, and her brother Fritz live on the eastern side, controlled by the Soviets. Her father and middle brother, who had gone west in search of work, cannot return home. Gerta knows it is dangerous to watch the wall, yet she can't help herself. Will Gerta and her family find their way to freedom?

Scythe by Neal Shusterman

A world with no hunger, no disease, no war, no misery: humanity has conquered all those things, and has even conquered death. Now Scythes are the only ones who can end life—and they are commanded to do so, in order to keep the size of the population under control. Citra and Rowan are chosen to apprentice to a scythe—a role that neither wants. These teens must master the "art" of taking life, knowing that the consequence of failure could mean losing their own.

Amari and the NIght Brothers by B.B. Alston

Thirteen-year-old Amari, a poor African American girl from the projects, gets an invitation from her missing brother to join the Bureau of Supernatural Affairs and join in the fight against an evil magician.

For students entering Grade 7

This summer, students are expected to read at least three books they haven't read before. The following books are required reading:

Other Words for Home by Jasmine Warga

Jude never thought she'd be leaving her beloved older brother and father behind, all the way across the ocean in Syria. But when things in her hometown start becoming volatile, Jude and her mother are sent to live in Cincinnati with relatives. At first. everything in America seems too fast and too loud. The American movies that Jude has always loved haven't guite prepared her for starting school in the US—and her new label of "Middle Eastern," an identity she's never known before. But this life also brings unexpected surprises—there are new friends, a whole new family, and a school musical that Jude might just try out for. Maybe America, too, is a place where Jude can be seen as she really is.

The Circuit by Francisco Jimenez

After dark in a Mexican border town, a father holds open a hole in a wire fence as his wife and two small boys crawl through. So begins life in the United States for many people every day. And so begins this collection of twelve autobiographical stories by Santa Clara University professor Francisco Jiménez, who at the age of four illegally crossed the border with his family in 1947.

Pocahontas by Joseph Bruchac

In 1607, when John Smith and his "Coatmen" arrive in Powhatan to begin settling the colony of Virginia, their relations with the village's inhabitants are anything but warm. Pocahontas, the beloved daughter of the Powhatan chief, Mamanatowic, is just eleven; but in spite of her age, this astute young girl acts with wisdom and compassion, and plays a fateful, peaceful role in the destinies of two peoples.

Surviving the Oregon Trail 1852 by Weldon Willis Rau

From Ms.Orne: You are going to be listening to Surviving the Oregon Trail, 1852: As Told by Mary Ann and Willis Boatman and Augmented With Accounts by Other Overland Travelers, By Weldon W. Rau. I have multiple reasons for requiring you to listen to this book and not read it. I want you to be on The Oregon Trail, thus the attached map. I don't want you counting pages, I want you counting miles. As well, this book is composed of primary source materials linked together, by the author, which really tells the story of what life was like on The Oregon Trail. I want you to hear their words. The author/narrator is the great grandson of the journal writers...a really cool connection to history. What is cholera? You need to know about this disease when you listen (see link to definition). Beware! Sickness, murder and drama will unfold over this 2000 mile journey! I have listened to and read this book multiple times, as I prepared for my own driving adventure on The Oregon Trail and I have re-listened to it this spring. As I've mentioned, the narrator's voice is a little "goofy" however the story is fully on target with our studies this fall. Email me over the summer, if you have questions as you listen to the book.

In addition to these required texts, students are to read at least one book of their choice!

The following are some recommended (i.e., not required) texts:

Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl by Anne Frank Bluefish by Pat Schmatz Ender's Game by Orson Scott Card Great Expectations by Charles Dickens I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings by Maya Angelou Kindred by Octavia Butler Moribito: Guardian of the Spirit by Nahoko The Outsiders by S.E. Hinton Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen Taste of Salt: a story of modern Haiti by Frances Temple Wonder by R.J. Palacio
