Talk Sup Week 1 Review and Preview

September 11, 2018

Good morning Sayreville. I hope you had a relaxing holiday weekend. That being said, we would like to wish all of our Jewish families a Happy Rosh Hashanah! If you are new to the Sayreville Public Schools, in an effort to communicate district news and information to you on a more frequent and consistent basis, last year I began the routine practice of sending you a weekly written broadcast message entitled Talk Sup(erintendent) Week Review and Preview. During these weekly messages, I will review the major school district news from the previous week and provide you with a preview of the week to come.

That said, I would like to begin my first edition this year by once again welcoming all our students and parents back to what we hope will be yet another exciting, successful, and memorable school year for you and your children. Regrettably, I would also like to take the time to sincerely apologize to all our students, parents, and staff who were inconvenienced, stressed, and even traumatized by some of the problems that we had this past week with transportation. While the problems we experienced this year were far less than last year, in our quest for perfection, we still recognize that there are some factors within our control that we can improve. However, unfortunately, the performance of the drivers employed by our vendors, which make up about 75% of our fleet, is a bit more difficult to control. Nevertheless, our district will not lower our expectations for the safe and efficient transportation of our children to and from school, and to that end will continue to demand for corrective action, not excluding the removal and/or termination of their drivers.

Despite the issues that we had with transportation and despite the oppressive heat on Thursday, our administrators have reported to me that our students had very productive days on both Thursday and Friday. In addition, many parents and staff provided me with positive feedback regarding kindergarten and preschool orientations. That said, we are anxiously awaiting the return of our preschool and kindergarten students, who will begin school today.

In athletics, nearly all of our fall high school programs began their seasons last week. In fact, last week our high school girls and boys soccer teams had big wins, as did our football team. Our tennis team also collected two impressive wins and while our field hockey team fell just a bit short of victory, they played quite well. All of these teams, including our cross country team, will be back in action this week. We wish all our student athletes the very best of luck this season and thank them in advance for the manner in which they represent the high school and our district. Go Bombers!
