We kicked off the month of May with Fairy Tale Week. The preschoolers read a number of different fairy tales, compared and contrasted them, acted them out, and created artwork based on the stories. The week culminated with a Fairy Tale Ball!

In science, the students studied insects. They watched as the caterpillars in their classrooms went through metamorphosis, forming chrysalises and then emerging as butterflies. We let the butterflies go in our pollinator garden adjacent to the playground.

Our classes also studied the farm and farm animals. They talked about fun things to do in the summer, including camping, and set up campsites in their classrooms.
