Welcome to Sidney. Cradled in the outstretched arms of the mighty Missouri and the free flowing Yellowstone to the south, Richland County is the only county in Montana with two major rivers running through it. Richland's 2084 square miles are tucked neatly in the heart of the fertile Lower Yellowstone Valley, just a few miles from the confluence of the Missouri and the Yellowstone rivers.

The county ranks at or near the top of all Montana counties in a number of agriculture and other production areas including number one in the production of sugar beets and oats. The county also ranks second in oil production in the state, and its livestock center is sixth in number of animals handled in the course of the year. Its county seat of Sidney is a major shopping center in Eastern Montana and also attracts many western North Dakota shoppers. Its exceptional medical facilities add to Richland County's status as a major retail center for the region.
