My Story

I was asked to participate in a LemonAID Stand for the Robin Hood Foundation of NYC back in August of 2018. The money raised would help feed, shelter and heal those in need. It was such a great experience, that with the help of my parents, I decided to make this an annual event. All proceeds would go to a different local charity each year. Last year, I chose an organization that is very special to me, Future Stars Children's Foundation. It is a non-profit organization founded for the benefit and education of today's youth. Founder Jim Olayos recently wrote a book called The Kindness Formula, that has truly inspired many people, including my parents. I look forward to reading it when I am older! To find out more about this organization and The Kindness Formula, please go to their website:

In addition to the lemonade stand, we also have lemonade scented candles! These candles are made locally and available now as well as on the day of my charity event. The suggested donation for the candles is $18.00. All proceeds will go to benefit this year's recipients.

Thank you very much for helping with my special project. I hope to see you at this year's lemonade stand!

2022 Recipients

This year I chose 2 local organizations to equally receive the money I raise from my lemonade stand. Brady's Smile (Fairfield) and Charlotte's Web of Prayer (Cheshire).

Brady's Smile is a charity created by Annie and Matt Hinton in memory, love and honor of their son Brady, who passed away on his 2nd birthday. It is the core mission of Brady's Smile to help make life easier for children in the hospital and their families. The charity is focused on providing support to families through their programs focused around hospital stays, whether it is in an intensive care unit or overnight inpatient visits. They spread love to the littlest patients through comfort bags, handmade blankets, meals and drinks, holiday surprises, music programs and toys.

Charlotte's Web of Prayer is a charity created by Chris and Susan DePaolo. It was an idea God put in their hearts while in Yale New Haven Hospital with their 3 year old daughter Charlotte. They provide financial, spiritual and emotional support for children with life-threatening and terminal illnesses. They help pay for household and medical bills, provide food and gas gift cards, and help with funeral costs. They also sponsor parking passes at the PICU and NICU at Yale New Haven Hospital, for families in the hospital on extended stays.
