

MIDDLE SCHOOL SUMMER READING

Dear Parents and Students,

Summer reading is designed to maintain student reading level, improve comprehension, and enhance vocabulary. It is critical in helping ensure that students' literacy skills remain strong. Our summer reading program was created to reduce the "summer slide" and provide your child with some excellent reading recommendations.

Our Middle School English teachers are excited about our requirements for this summer's reading. We believe this will give our students more freedom in choosing books with subject matters in which they are interested.

Parental guidance in helping students select appropriate texts is highly encouraged. Commonsensemedia.org is an excellent website to seek recommendations and review content.

Reading requirements for all students grades 6-8:

- Select one fiction and one non-fiction text from the grade level book list to read during June and July. Then read the assigned book of the Bible to read the first two weeks of August.
- Be prepared to complete an activity or two from your reading during the first two weeks of school. This will be an assessment activity to reflect on your literary choices read over the summer.

Summer Reading for Middle School

DIRECTIONS:

- Read one book a month. It must be on your reading level. If you are unsure of your level, use the five word rule. (A book is too hard if you can't recognize five or more words on a page). You are to read a fiction book in June, a non-fiction book in July, and the book of Mark from the Bible before school begins on August 16th.
- Complete the following information for each of the three reading assignments.

Name:

Grade:

	JUNE (FICTION)	JULY (NON-FICTION)
	Use the blanks below to take your notes.
Title and Author
Summary:	A good summary includes: characters, setting, plot, beginning, middle, and end. (Click for a 5 minute tutorial)
Theme:
Your favorite part. Why?
Would you recommend this to a friend? Why/Why not?
