Psychological Services:

Under the direction of the Director of Special Education, the district's school psychologists serve the needs of at-risk students, their families, teachers, and administrators in a variety of ways. These include:

- Conducting psychoeducational assessments of referred students for special education programs and services.
- Providing consultative services to facilitate student learning and development.
- Providing short-term counseling services to special education students and/or general education students when deemed necessary.
- Assisting school patrons in gaining access to services from outside agencies and community service providers.
