Dear AP Literature Class of 2022/2023,

Beyond the sleeping and sun of summer vacation, senior year awaits! This course you are entering, AP English Literature and Composition, substitutes for a first-year course in college composition, which means that for many universities and colleges, qualifying on the exam allows you to either sidestep a 100-level writing course or receive college credit for it. The central purpose of such a class is to enable you to write effectively in all your courses and into your professional life. To this end, the College Board asserts, a typical college course emphasizes analytical and argumentative writing, the kind of writing that “forms the basis for academic and professional communication.” AP English Literature, in particular, asks you to apply your analytical skills to how authors craft the meaning of a work, with attention to the richness of language. Because reading complex literature analytically is an essential component of this class, I would like you to embark on your reading over the summer. I am so excited to start teaching you in the fall!

To do:

1) Read at least one novel from the list below.

- ◆ Allow yourself the time to hunt for what you would really like and to change your mind if need be.
- ◆ Take notes (post-its work!) about how the author makes choices regarding perspective, characters, motifs, language, and plot design. As you read, consider how these choices develop and contribute to the meaning of the work as a whole.
- ◆ What will we be doing with this reading? Discussing the novel with a small group and typing up a Novel Study template, see below. This template is not work you have to do over the summer!

2) Read at least one other novel, either from the list or one of your choosing.

- ◆ What will you be doing with this reading? Writing a book review for the class when school begins.

Achebe, Chinua	Things Fall Apart
Allende, Isabel	The House of Spirits
Bronte, Emily	Wuthering Heights (if not previously read)
Bronte, Charlotte	Jane Eyre
Dostoyevsky, Fyodor	Crime and Punishment
Hardy, Thomas	Far from the Madding Crowd
Huxley, Aldous	Brave New World
Morrison, Toni	Sula
Murakami, Haruki	Kafka on the Shore
McEwan, Ian	Atonement
Orwell, George	1984
Roy, Arundhati	The God of Small Things
Tolstoy, Leo	Anna Karenina

Note: Please be advised that the books on this list, in their pursuit of depicting the human condition, may contain provocative and emotionally challenging material such as verbal abuse, physical and sexual assault, and racist, ableist, antisemitic, and misogynist views. I encourage you to read book summaries and reviews before embarking on reading.
