Sixth grade social studies teacher Shelbie Embro brought students along to help show the Board how they use technology in their classrooms. Students demonstrated how Flipagrams were used to study vocabulary words. The app requires students to define words and attach a photo to help remind them of the word's meaning. Board members used iPads to compete in a multiple choice quiz.

Hendricks told the Board he was working with CHS Principal David Welch to develop a summer reading program for nine young men at CHS.

Second graders in Wendy Bridges and Karen Davis's classes attended the Bill Martin Jr. Symposium at Texas A&M University-Commerce. The students were one of two overall winning teams.
