COMMENTS

The CMP Shingle Springs teachers and staff members who attended the AMS Conference in San Diego came back with a plethora of new Montessori materials and extensions, in addition to numerous strategies and teaching techniques to use in their classrooms. Several of us also had the pleasure of serving at the Montessori registration booths, workshops, and "Montessori Central". One of the Keynote Speakers, Jessica Lahey, shared some interesting insights into allowing our students to work through difficult problems and activities, possibly even failing at the first attempt, in order to build perseverance and responsibility. This tied in beautifully to the Montessori tenets of self-discovery and "control of error", which are both powerful tools used in our Montessori classrooms.

We had the opportunity to share some our best workshop experiences at our last Early Release Professional Development Day and will also be collaborating and sharing "the best of the best" with our grade level teams from multiple CMP Campuses at next Wednesday's Early Release Professional Development Day.

The CMP Shingle Springs Team thoroughly appreciates our Executive Director's and the CMP Governing Board's commitment to providing this opportunity to our school community!
