Ranger Round Up

From the Principal's Desk

There is no eloquent way of describing education during the COVID-19 pandemic other than it is hard. It is hard for students who are learning remotely without their classmates to learn with and their teachers there for immediate support. It is hard for teachers who are faced with instructing online and learning whole new ways to teach in a format that is completely foreign to them. It is hard for parents who are balancing their work responsibilities while supporting their children's academics, social needs, and safety. It is hard for school administrators who are making tough decisions that impact student academic growth and the safety of all members of the school community. We are all impacted deeply by the COVID-19 crisis and it is hard.

However, as I was reflecting on the challenges we all face during this tough time, it dawned on me how we are all stepping up and meeting the challenges we are facing. Students are attending remote classes, they are turning in work, they are attending intervention support times, and they are learning. Teachers, some who weren't born into the technology era, have learned how to use Google Classroom, Zoom, YouTube, and various other technology-based teaching tools. Parents have made adjustments, become more informed and have made the tough decisions as to the best educational path for their children while keeping them safe. School administrators have made tough decisions, put safety and educational plans in place, and have offered multiple choices to families to meet the various needs of our students.

Although we certainly did not "choose" to be in this health crisis, the spirit of doing something hard reminded me of this excerpt from President Kennedy's 1962 speech on going to the moon.

"We choose to go to the moon. We choose to go to the moon in this decade and do the other things, not because they are easy, but because they are hard, because that goal will serve to organize and measure the best of our energies and skills, because that challenge is one that we are willing to accept, one we are unwilling to postpone, and one which we intend to win."

I believe this sentiment describes the energies, skills and challenges of the entire Lakewood City School community and that ultimately we will also win.

Sincerely,

Mr. Walter

Dear Students, Families, and Friends,

While the start of this school year has been remarkably different from any other, we hope this finds you finding your rhythm and settling in to the 2020-21 school year.

Through the years, the Lakewood Music Boosters has worked to support the needs of our outstanding music teachers, the educational opportunities of our students, and to showcase to our community the accomplishments of both. As COVID-19 has challenged everyone's approach to once-simple tasks, the Music Boosters are also searching for new ways to enrich the experiences of Lakewood's performing arts students and community.

First, the Music Boosters will be launching a social media campaign later this month featuring the experiences and accomplishments of Lakewood's alumni. The campaign will profile alumni whose careers are in the performing arts, as well as those whose ongoing love for music enriches their lives. We hope that featuring the accomplishments of our alumni will inspire and encourage our current performing arts students and help strengthen our community of supporters.

Please follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram to see the achievements of our former performing arts students and to celebrate the successes that our dedicated supporters have helped make possible.

Second, we have designed a sign you can purchase and display in your yard to proudly show your support for your favorite performer. The sign states WE PUT THE BEAT IN THE HEART OF LAKEWOOD and can be customized with additional sign toppers. To order a sign online, click here. You can also order by completing the attached order form and emailing it to us at lkwdmusicboosters@gmail.com. All proceeds from sign sales will support the 70-plus performing arts programs for students at every school in the Lakewood City School District.

Last but not least, if you have not yet joined, we hope you will consider becoming a member of the Music Boosters. The membership form is attached or can be completed online. All members are welcome to attend our remaining meetings on February 8, March 8, and May 10. Due to COVID, all meetings will be via Zoom until further notice. You can become member and follow the Music Boosters on our website at www.lakewoodmusicboosters.com.
