Ranger Round Up

From the Principal's Desk

Stealing a line from the theme song of the 70's TV show Welcome Back Kotter, "Welcome back, welcome back, welcome back…." I think that's what we all were singing a few weeks ago as students arrived back at Lakewood High School after being remote since March 13th. Students and staff alike were thrilled to get back to some normalcy and to see each other again. I asked one student if he was happy to be back. He replied, "I am happy, very, very happy!" That about sums up how everyone is feeling about getting back to the building and getting back to in-person learning.

I am also happy to report that the safety precautions communicated to our students are being followed and everyone is doing a great job. Students and staff have adapted to wearing masks, disinfecting desks, using up and down stairwells, and learning in a socially distanced way. Students in the cafeteria are maintaining social distancing and following the safety procedures daily. I never thought that I would miss the noise in the cafeteria, but I do.

Similar to the months of full remote learning, we still have some bumps in the road and challenges to overcome. Having students learning in-person and learning remotely is certainly a challenge we have never faced before. However, having a growth mindset is to learn from what is not working and to make improvements. I have full confidence that we will grow and be better each day.

I'm looking forward to the day when all of our students can return safely, and the voices and laughter in the cafeteria can be heard all the way down the hallway. (Did I just say that?)

Sincerely,

Mr. Walter

Health and Safety Message

By Brigette Dineen

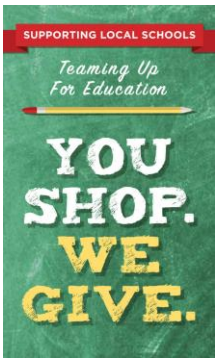

A year ago, if you had told me that I would go back to a job I had sworn off, adopt a tiny dog, and have a dedicated drawer in the kitchen to store my 100+ collection of masks, it's that last one I would have fought you on. The fact that mask-wearing has become part of our global daily routine seems science-fictiony, but I assure you it is not.

The fantastic news is that we have vaccines now! Many vaccines on deck! It's a slow go to get them into all of our deltoids, but progress is being made every day. Some in our community have already gotten both doses, which is exciting. This may, however, cause another speedbump in adherence to current mask mandates. We already have the issue of people just refusing to wear masks, now we have people that have already recovered from COVID19, or have gotten vaccinated, who are supposedly immune. Should those people continue to wear masks? It's a legit question, but the answer is YES. Here's why: it is rare, but not impossible, to get COVID19 twice, and the vaccines, while highly effective, are not 100%. It is also possible to transmit or carry the virus to others who are more vulnerable. Additionally, we don't know who has been vaccinated, so if we have some people walking around without masks, it will cause chaos and we'll be back at square one with mask education, which means more lectures from Gov. Mike DeWine. Masks will be part of our daily routine for a while.

Our district nurse, Katy Corrigan, sent out a really great email reminding us of the benefits of masks, hand washing, and distancing. We know that, except in rare circumstances, students are required to wear masks in school. If we want to keep them in school, we all need to work together on this and keep masking up! Even knowing this, some people, for various reasons, are still hesitant to wear a mask. Aside from the obvious benefit of decreasing/preventing the transmission of airborne viruses, I'm enjoying several non-medical benefits of wearing a mask, such as not having to wear lipstick, or makeup in general. If you have coffee breath or a runny nose, this is not a problem as a mask hides both, and while they seem to cause skin problems ("maskne" anyone?), they also hide them. Also, it's really cold out, and they keep your face warm. Just think of them as an inexpensive, fun accessory. Wearing a mask helps to protect ourselves, our family, and our community and brings us closer to not having to wear masks anymore, football game crowds, school dances, and normalcy.

Lakewood Boosters February Update

With the winter season wrapping up, we still have some remaining games for parents that want to earn Booster Bucks towards their athletic fees. Also watch for the Booster Scholarship application for LHS Seniors for the 2020-2021 season.

Thank you to our end-of-year donors who have helped us launch the Lakewood Sports Channel and to all our supporting businesses. These donations help make up for lost spectator revenues and provide support for our scholarships and contributions to the Lakewood Athletic Department.

To date this school year, the Athletic Boosters has contributed $40,000 directly to Lakewood Athletic Department but this was largely due to the success we had last year. We have helped teams raise an additional $53,000 in team-allocated funds thanks to the hard work of Coaches, Team Parents, and families.

However, we are still operating in the red for this year and need our community of parents to contribute in any any way they can.

- Become a Member - Annual dues go directly to support Ranger Athletics and members get discounts while Senior Students can apply for a Booster Scholarship.
- Attend Booster Meetings - Jump on our monthly Zoom Meetings to hear what's in store and to share your ideas and feedback.
- Volunteer for Concessions - We've upgraded concessions! With our new touchscreen point of sale, we can now take credit cards and all inventory is tallied in real time. This means setting up and closing is MUCH FASTER than it used to be. Concessions are a fun and easy way to directly generate funds for the school. We have also limited our food/drink options and allow only 1 or 2 people to operate a stand while masked.
- Donate - Your tax deductible donation can be made directly to a team or sport or towards our
- quarterly contribution to the Athletic Department.
- Sponsor - Our local businesses and partner organizations are featured in the LHS Stadium and LHS Gymnasium. Promote your business or organization and show your support for our community.

Take the next step and go to www.GoLakewood.org to get involved.

Thank you from the Lakewood Athletic Boosters Board and Go Rangers!
