RANGER ROUND UP

From the Principal's Desk

"Education is the passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to those who prepare for it today."

If your children are anything like mine, "Nothing" was the typical response when I asked, "What did you learn today at school?" So, to dispel the myth that is perpetuated by students everywhere, I would like to share with you some of what I have learned while visiting classrooms at LHS recently:

- How light, energy, water, and carbon dioxide combine to release oxygen through photosynthesis in a classroom completely set up as model of a leaf
- The influence of writers such as Langston Hughes and Zora Neale Hurston had on American society during the Harlem Renaissance
- The short and long-term impacts that alcohol use has on the nervous system, heart, and circulatory system
- The appropriate use of adverbs in Spanish and correct sentence structure in Chinese
- How to project the sound of your violin towards the audience at the appropriate moment
- Determining the statistical probability of an event occurring given the possibilities available
- Creating an electrical circuit following schematic diagrams and using critical thinking skills to make electronic components function properly
- Using texture in photography to create a visual feel in a photo
- Understanding the legal requirements for a police search to balance safety and constitutional rights of citizens
- How to analyze the different aspects of investing in stocks as students simulated the buying and selling of stocks to maximize profit
- Interpreting, "Romeo and Juliet" and the writing genius of William Shakespeare

I could give so many more examples of what students are learning every day at LHS. More importantly, I wanted to illustrate the variety of knowledge and the depth of the instruction that students receive by attending Lakewood High School.

What We Know about Testing During COVID: The Importance of Taking an Exam

Entrance exam testing, in the past, has played a major role in college admissions. Learn what changes are taking place and why it is important to still take an exam. College Now staff will share news, updates, and insights we have learned about taking the ACT and SAT. Students, there will still be time to register for the ACT and SAT after this session!

I Filed My FAFSA, Now What? Verification and Award Letters

Review the financial aid verification process and receive guidance on decoding your financial aid award letters. Each year, some students may be asked to verify the information reported on their FAFSA. This process can be confusing, leaving many students behind in their efforts to move on to college. College Now advisors will review ways in which students can prepare for verification selection, how to access the appropriate forms, and more. Advisors will also assist students and families in understanding financial aid award letters provided by each institution to clarify the amount that will need to be covered by the family and student upon enrollment.

Get to Know the Exams: ACT/SAT Workshop

For years, higher education institutions have used entrance exams for admissions, course placement, and scholarship selection. Over the course of the last year, many institutions have held off on using scores for admissions, but they may still be used in determining scholarship eligibility and course placement. Get ahead by joining College Now to review both the ACT and SAT and receive tips for taking each exam.

Screenagers is back for 2021

Lakewood Council of PTAs is sponsoring a free, on-line screening of Screenagers NEXT CHAPTER: Uncovering skills for Stress Resilience from March 8th- 23rd. Screenagers NEXT CHAPTER is "a film that examines the science behind teen's emotional challenges, the interplay of social media, and most importantly, what can be done in our schools and homes to help them build crucial skills to navigate stress, anxiety, and depression in our digital age."

You have the opportunity to view the documentary on-demand, twice during this 2-week period with your family from the comfort of your home. You may register for this event at any time using the link below.
Registration Link:
https://www.screenagersevent.com/nextchapter-lakewood-council-of-ptas

The same link is used for registrants to view the movie once the on-demand viewing period begins on March 8th.

Please let us know if you have any questions (lakewoodcouncil@gmail.com). If you would like more information on Screenagers, then please visit their website at www.screenagersmovie.com

We hope you take advantage of this opportunity!

National PTA Podcast

Raising a teenager can be difficult—even under normal circumstances—and COVID-19 has added new challenges. We talked to Dr. Lisa Damour, adolescent psychologist, and high school student Isaac Hurtado, co-host of the hit podcast, Teenager Therapy, to get tips. Isaac shares his experiences and what he's hearing from other teens as they cope with all that 2020 has thrown at them. Dr. Lisa Damour offers her own professional perspective on these topics, covering everything from remote learning and social media use to anxiety and depression.
