From letters on blocks we've watched you grow

We send you with this prayer:

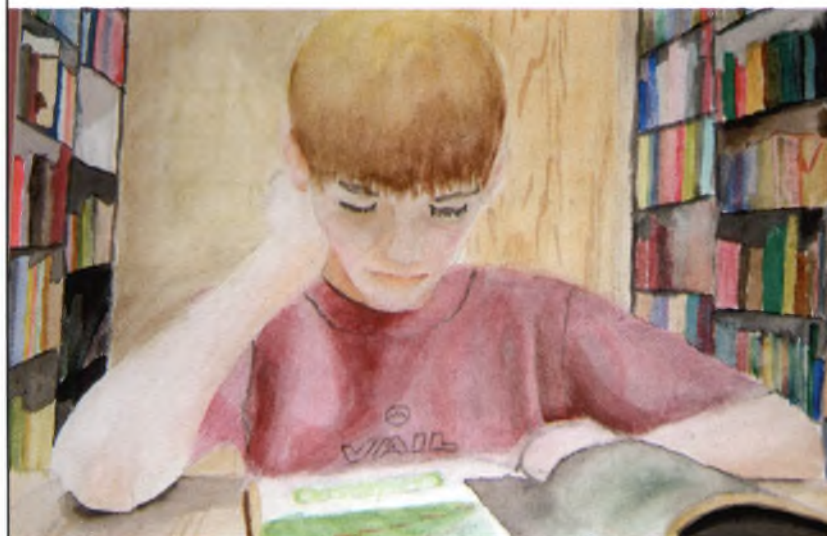

Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just,
whatever is pure, whatever is pleasing, commendable,
admirable— if anything is excellent or praiseworthy, think about such things. Whatever you have learned put into practice.

And the God of peace will be with you.

BRADLEY ARNOLD

Dear Emz,

"If you have been trying to be perfect in one way or another, too, then make today, when for a moment there are no more grades to be gotten, classmates to be met, terrain to be scouted, positioning to be arranged –make today the day to put down the backpack. Trying to be perfect may be sort of inevitable for people like us, who are smart and ambitious and interested in the world and in its good opinion. But at one level it's too hard, and at another, it's too cheap and easy. Because it really requires you mainly to read the zeitgeist of wherever and whenever you happen to be, and to assume the masks necessary to be, and the best of whatever the zeitgeist dictates or requires. Those requirements shapeshift, sure, but when you're clever you can read them and do the imitation required.

But nothing important, or meaningful, or beautiful, or interesting, or great ever came out of imitations. The thing that is really hard, and really amazing, is giving up on being perfect and beginning the work of becoming yourself.

This is more difficult, because there is no zeitgeist to read, no template to follow, no mask to wear. Set aside what your friends expect, what your parents demand, what your acquaintances require. Set aside the messages this culture sends, through its entertainment, its disdain and its disapproval, about how you should behave.

Set aside the old traditional notion of female as nurturer and male as leader; set aside, too, the new traditional notions of female as superwoman and male as oppressor. Begin with that most terrifying of all things, a clean slate. Then look, every day, at the choices you are making, and when you ask yourself why you are making them, find the answer: for me, for me. Because they are who and what I am, and mean to be." -Anna Quindlen-

Congratulations!

COLOPHONE

The 2005 Saga, volume 51, was produced as an extra curricular activity by the yearbook staff at Timothy Christian High School in Elmhurst, Illinois and printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Mission, Kansas. Most meetings were held throughout the year in the high school computer lab on Wednesday evenings from approximately 7 to 9 pm.

The yearbook account was serviced by representative Jamie Silver and customer service adviser Lisa Merino. The editors, Julia Moran Meland and Maribeth Loerop, developed the theme IN MY LIFE in August at the Chigacoland Yearbook Experience at Benedictine University in Lisle. The cover was designed by Herff Jones artist Chris Martin at the camp and incorporated a four color design which was lithographed onto a special Kivar base material with an applied linen grain. The layout staff worked off of 23 page and division templates that were created by Mr. Hartgerink to complement the cover design. The endsheets were printed on White stock with a custom design printed in black ink. The book's 168 pages are printed on 80lb. Bordeaux paper stock.

The 2005 volume includes 40 pages in full color. All captions, memories, and headings were set in the Toxica font and all photo identifications were set in Souvenir. All photos and pages were submitted digitally to the plant on disk. The 2005 Saga was produced using InDesign CS and Photoshop CS, on Dell computers in the computer lab, art room, and the publications room. More than 7000 digital images were shot or scanned by staff members using an Epson 636U scanner, two Olympus 3020 digital cameras, two Sony DSC F717 digital cameras, and two Nikon D70 digital cameras. HR Imaging Partners provided all the student portraits. 500 books were printed at a cost of over forty dollars per book. Twenty dollars of each student's activity fee was used for the purchase of their book and the remaining funds came from advertising revenue.
