The girls doing the usual - dancing, smiling, falling in love, falling out of love, falling back in love again......

The Pirates of Penzance

- · Big words with no meaning
- Collecting branches for the finale and chasing the geese
- "Scary pirates kidnapping innocent young girls? What do you think's gonna happen?" -Katie
- · Learning the dance scene took forever
- Moon hitting everyone with his sword
- Having Wolty back
- Natalie's fainting skills
- The new directors do an awesome job!

Samuel, played by Corey VanDyke, is sad that Fredric is leaving the band of pirates.

The raucous opening scene of the musical drinking and sparring seem to be the pirates' favorite pastime. High point: Jon as the drunk pirate and his amazing belches. "Drink up, me hearies!"

Senior "Danby" played by the, er, "fearless" Pirate King. Does this hat look, OK?

Olivia Doig played the beautiful Mabel, hopeful bride-to-be of Fredrick. Willing to be faithful to her love, she now has to wait another 63 years for him to be free from the pirates.

"Yo Ho, Yo Ho! A pirate's life for me!"

The ever-brilliant and brave police, played mostly by teachers and a few students, run and hide from the pirates. The police added some of the favorite scenes of the show.

The girls encourage Fredric in his pursuit of their sister Mabel, because they're too good for him.

Ruth, the piratical maid of all work, finally admits that she accidentally apprenticed Fredric to the pirates instead of to a pilot.

Peter Matthews stole the show in his role as the Major General. The pirates are owestruck by his greatness.

Fredric falls for the beautiful Mabel the minute he sees her.

Ruth and the pirate king corner Fredric and force him to rejoin the pirate band. He needs to remain with them until his 21st birthday in 63 years. A paradox, a paradox.....

Many thanks to our makeup committee who helped the cast get ready for every show.

The whole cast put in a lot of effort to make the show a success. Thanks to Mr. Lindloff and Mr. Bates, plus our guest teachers for helping out.

Co-captains Jacquelyn Iwema and Lauren Hansberger show some good school spirit during their sidelines cheer.

Mr. Cirignani impresses the crowd with his moon walk and Michael Jackson trade mark single white glove during the Homecoming routine.

Flashlight is always an exciting routine for the girls to perform and it's always a crowd favorite. Another thing is the junior pommers routine. This year Heidi Hunier and Meridith VanDenBerg got the chance to perform with the pommers Pommers Natascha, Kendall, Jenna, Ladrena, and Arielle pose for a picture right before heading out to do sidelines and starting line up for the Varsity Basketball Team.

Allison and Lauren, the flyers pictured above, have mastered the art of twisting while flying thanks to their experience as skaters. These baskets were launched to high heights and both flyers rotated twice and landed perfectly in the arms of their throwers. The fans were wowed at the skills of the squad.

The flyers snap their perfectly timed arabesques as names of the boys basketball team are called off for starting line-up.

All five flyers and stunt groups are used to put together pyramids like the one to the left that was used on senior night. The girls decided to wear their hair in Mohawks for a change. The Mohawks enhanced the theatrical start to the routine in which the girls acted like marionettes to music from the Phantom of the Opera.

eerleading

Ava, a junior captain, leads the team in the set up for a free throw. If the player makes his shot, the squad swings their arms to their side and into a clap and yells "Swoosh, YEAH!"

The cheerleaders sit on the stage waiting for the JV to finish so that they can bring out the big T to start off the varsity boys warm-up.

On senior night, the last halftime performance of the year, the ten seniors were honored by standing apart from the rest of the team for the final pose. Chris, Jessica, Allison, Becky, Katie, Abby, Stephanie, Mary Beth, Laura, and Andrew took in their last moment of glory as Timothy cheerleaders after performing a perfect routine.

The cheerleaders show their patriotism in lining up for the national anthem. Before every home game a prayer is said and the Star Spangled Banner is sung by a member of the student body, the choir, or played from a cd.

This stunt, called the Shotgun, was a crowd favorite. Allison was sent soaring to the gym ceiling with the extra lift from Greg.

Homecoming

The cheerleaders get airborne during their amazing Homecoming routine.

The members of the court pose so that all the parental paparazzi and the Saga photographer can get their pictures.

Becky Kim describes her ideal date which the other girls find extremely humorous,

Olivia Doig and Caroline Hayes are almost too cute in their coordinated outfits for Twin Day.

The underclassmen boys had a blast forming a Conga line at the Homecoming Dance.

Moon and Hye Jin step off the dance floor for a moment to have their picture taken.

Bruce Larkin, Jamal Sarikoki, Mike Cappozzoli, and Jeff Stein flail their limbs acrobatically in a passionate assault of dance moves as they boogie the night away.

Maxwell Baumbach and Taylor Slager deliver an awe inspiring display of dance in their duo performance at the center of the circle.

Enthusiastic freshmen impress everyone with their unique moves on the dance floor.

Rob Stein and Krista Lodewyk really enjay the evening of dancing and dining together.

Fine Arts Week

The Calvin College improv group was a favorite among many students.

- Calvin College Improv
- The amazing dance moves of Princima
- Mr. Day's solo on "Why Must I be a teenager in Love?"
- The very entertaining members of the Voice Exchange
- Tabitha Folkerts' presentation of films that she has worked on
- The impressive amount of talent displayed by Timothy students throughout the week

Writing students are engrossed with what judge Sytsma has to say about their work.

Chad Folkerts and Brandon Shaefer find new ways to appreciate the photographs hanging in the hallways and to read Lauren Hansberger's eyebrows.

The woodwind quintet peforms "Scarborough Fair," a piece made popular by Simon and Garfunkel.

Laura Vanderveld plays a complicated piece for cello entitled "Concerto #3 by Saient-Saens.

Mr. Schoenbach performs a doo-wap number with one of his old college friends that happened to be in the Voice Exchange.

Anna DeJong delights the audience with the playful piece she performed.

Caitlin Williams reads a satirical piece that she wrote about the dangers of political correctness.

The audience is enveloped by Abbie Newell's song as she passionately sings "Safe" by Natalie Grant.

Billy Speulda awes his fellow students with his mad piano skills. He performed this piece with poise as his fingers danced across the keys.

The Chicago Voice Exchange was very entertaining as they gave a comical lesson about acapella music.

JoAnna Reiger, who teachs art at Fenton, taught art students how to judge a piece of art by breaking down the judging process into several steps.

At the all-school assembly, Katie Villa reads a poem that she wrote. This was the first year that awardwinning students performed for their peers during the school day.

Olivia Doig sings "Art is Calling For Me" by Smith and Herbert, with an obvious joy that pleased the whole audience.

Mike Iwema and Alexa DeVries get involved in one of the improv games. It was a little bit awkward at first, but it laosened up once they got the audience laughing.

Saga

- Jeff and Corey whining about not getting a Hymn Club page
- Taylor's crazy pictures
- Brittany's delicious treats
- Kids coming right from their games to work on the yearbook

Corrine doesn't actually work but likes to tell secrets.

Anneke is a great person to have on Sago, not only was she a good worker but she also provides some comic relief with her many faces and impressions.

Ben Zigterman fills in and helps wherever needed, and Taylor Slager takes a break from his intense labor to "pose" for a photo.

Luke Svec gets his mug shot taken on Portrait Day during the first week of school. The yearbook editors begin planning the Saga during the summer and work diligently throughout the year, meeting at least one night a week and often during the school day. Thousands of candid photos are filed, page layouts are created, and all the copy is written by our dedicated staff.

Editors Taylor, Brittany, and Corrine look for pictures to add to the "Year in Review" montage

Saga Staff 1st row: Lindsey Holtrop, Brittany VanderNaald (editor-in-chief), Taylor Slager (senior editor), Corrine Wieringa (senior editor). 2nd row: Kelsey Koch, Anneke Stemler, Jenna Stech (photo editor), Mary Meigs, Victoria McBride, Abby Helmus. 3rd row: Mr. Hartgerink (advisor), Jeff Stein, Amanda Muhlena (photo editor), Mary Beth Langkamp, Ben Zigterman.

Hymn Club Is there such a thing? Some say it's a cult, others say that it just exists in the mind of Corey VanDyk. As you can see they did get photographed. The Saga staff cannot confirm or deny their existence. You be the judge.

Abby Helmus enjoyed working on the Trip page after coming home from the trip to Greece over

Brittany VanderNaald often brought snacks to our meeting so that we could get our daily sugar requirements.

Ben Zigterman reviews and types up the responses to the senior survey so that quotes can be selected, photos taken, and the page layout completed before the last day of school.

Saga is actually quite fun despite popular belief.

n her job as photo editor, Amanda Muhlena filed and corrected a lot of photos for the yearbook. Df the thousands of photos that were taken this rear only a few hundred were used in the Saga. Amanda also took a lot of the excellent photos hat were used in the book.

Jeff, Corrine, and Brittany collaborate on laying out the "Year in Review" pages while Mary Beth searches for photos and you-knowwho helps to add a touch of seriousness to the evening.

Those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint. Isaiah 40:31

My Dearest Ann,

Words cannot describe how much I love you and how proud I am of you! You have lived your life in the shadow of His everlasting grace, and I pray always that you will continue to do so in your new life! You are a good friend to many, a kind and patient listener, a doting sister, a most playful and fun cousin and niece, and a most loving daughter. May God continue to bless you as you have blessed so many.

God has given you to me for such a short time. He has watched over you and has brought you closer to Himself in a profound way. He has promised to never leave you nor forsake you. What a promise! I pray for you daily that you will always keep that promise in your heart so that you may continue to share with others the love of God that overflows in you. I have no doubt that you will accomplish every desire that God has put in your heart according to His great and perfect will.

Your loving and proud Mom

Congratulations, Samantha!
