A glimpse of the IBDP 2021-22 Results

The IBDP results are in! Not surprisingly, our students and teachers have done amazing work. At SIS, the core of our philosophy is being inclusive and providing students with a holistic education - a variety of experiences that allow individuals to explore personal interests and goals in an engaging and supportive learning environment. For another year running, we celebrate our 100% pass rate. This is an enormous testament to SIS' commitment to inclusion and support for our students!

Once again, Shekou International School students have achieved outstanding results as individuals and as a year group. I particularly applaud this group of graduates where every IBDP Candidate was successful in being awarded a Diploma. This is a remarkable achievement in a two-year period where there was such distraction in the world and speaks to the adaptability, resilience, and commitment of the students and their teachers. Further, I am thrilled to see the continuing growth in the number of Bilingual Diplomas being awarded. This reflects our commitment to language at SIS and prepares students for success in the future.

Greg Smith, ISS Asia Pacific Vice-President and outgoing SIS Head of School remarked,

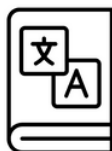

In referring to the IB Bilingual Diploma, Smith highlights SIS' dedication to language learning. We are very honored to graduate students who are academically fluent in at least two languages. This level of skillset is extremely attractive to universities as it demonstrates a broad intellectual capability. Over the last 2 years at SIS, we have worked hard to increase the number of Bilingual Diplomas earned, from 19% in 2020 to 38% in 2022! Congratulations students and teachers!

Academic achievement is a significant component of our holistic approach as a school. As such, we are hugely proud of the 2022 graduating class, which earned an IBDP average of 35.2 points - more than 3 points above the global average of 31.98. Significantly, three of our students received full marks, 45/45, which is a feat achieved by less than 0.25% of all DP candidates worldwide! Seven students achieved a score of 40 points or higher, which positions them to enter the most selective of universities around the globe.
