REGARDING SOY ALLERGIES:

The FDA does not consider commercially refined soybean oil as an allergen and does not require it to be labeled as such. For this reason, it will not routinely be excluded for soy allergies unless indicated by the physician. Automatically excluding commercially refined soy oil significantly limits the variety of foods available to students and may unnecessarily restrict their diet.

MODIFIED TEXTURE SECTION

Food Consistency: Regular Chopped Ground Pureed
Liquid Consistency: Thin Nectar Honey Pudding

I certify that the above-named student needs diet modifications as described above because of the student's disability, life-threatening food allergy or lactose intolerance:
