The coach dozed off during church services and when the preachers said, "Will all who want to go to heaven stand," the coach kept on snoozing. After they sat down the preacher said, "Well, will all who want to go to the other place stand."

Someone dropped a song book, awakening the coach, who jumped to his feet, then looked around sheepishly, "I don't know what we're voting for preacher," he said, "but it looks like you and I are the only ones for it."

I feel asleep on most of my predictions last week, 13 out of 21, not good. I'm 71-39, 64% for the season. Here's where I improve.
