

Retiring Athletic Jersey

The Madison Southern School Council agrees that to retire an athlete's jersey, the athlete must have made, broken or been high in several individual record categories, and have made a major impact on the sports program and teams' success in which they were involved. The athlete must be a high quality person whose athletic achievements have brought honor to community, school, family and self. The athlete must be referred by the head coach of that sport and approved by the athletic director and principal.
