We missed you!

We were so disappointed when we realized it was necessary to postpone BMA's 50th Anniversary Celebration due to the pandemic. We look forward to celebrating all together, in person, when it is safe to do so and once everyone feels comfortable traveling again. We confirm that we will not gather on campus in the summer of 2021. We will continue to evaluate the situation and will notify you when a new date has been secured.

Help us reach our goals!

We need your help to reach our ambitious Annual Fund goal of $475,000 again this year! Donate online or use the envelope provided before June 30, 2021. Give today at burkemtnacademy.org

Thank you!

Alumni, are you on LinkedIn?

If so, be sure to add Burke Mountain Academy as your high school. It's a great way to stay connected to fellow alumni, find job opportunities, and stay up-to-date on the latest developments with the school.

"LinkedIn is a great place to connect with fellow BMA alumni of all ages. When you add BMA to your profile, you can view all other alums, see where they work, and connect with them for personal or professional opportunities. Connecting with alumni, especially at a school like Burke with such a tight-knit community, is the perfect way to network, open doors, and find job opportunities."

In times of uncertainty, strong communities bind together and the collective strength of the individuals help the group overcome the short term adversity that they are facing. In the past several months, the Burke Mountain Academy community has shown its strength in helping this school react to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic. We are one small school located in northern Vermont, but we are also a tightly woven community that stretches far beyond our campus. In this unprecedented moment, we could not be more grateful for the power of the amazing Burke family.”

Burkies after one of the multiple haybale hikes up Warren's Way

Dear BMA Community,

Last spring, we closed our campus for what we thought would be a six week interruption. Five months, hundreds of zoom meetings, and countless hours of planning later, we reopened the school and welcomed our students back for the fall term. Somewhere in those summer months we built a new health center, established a new health network, reconfigured all of our schedules, installed new air filtrations systems, and established a COVID-19 testing protocol for our school. None of this would have been possible without the unwavering support of our alumni, families, trustees and staff. The rapid and creative response to this crisis is a testament to the Burke resilience and creativity that we have long been proud of. The outcome so far has exceeded every expectation that we could have had.

Our strategy was to create a “bubble” and leverage the natural isolation of our campus and small size of our school. While we are relieved and proud of the fact that we were able to conduct the term with no positive COVID-19 test results, we were surprised and thrilled with the atmosphere that existed on campus that were in some ways aided by the COVID-19 protocols. As a result of closing our campus, the fall was a throwback to what was more typical 20 years ago. The students arrived in late August and were “stuck” here as one big family for two full months. Without the ability to go home on weekends or to sneak away for a meal in town, the campus was always full and vibrant. The students who had been separated from their friends for several months found renewed appreciation for the Burke lifestyle and embraced the “in it together” mentality. The general spirit on campus was unlike anything that I have been a part of in my few years here as Head of School.

The Burkies were able to enjoy several things about the fall that were close to normal. The 1.75 mile run, knee touch squats, timed hike, sandpits, and the Haagen Dazs all went off without a hitch. Personal bests were achieved and new thresholds of personal exertion were discovered. Lunch announcements carried on, though always outside and we even had our own mock presidential election complete with debates and stump speeches which were all more civil and articulate than those seen on TV! It really was a magical season here in the NEK and we are so very grateful for all of the people who pitched in to give our students an opportunity to return to campus. We do not know what the winter will bring, but we do know that we are going to be ready for more than a few false starts and wind holds; ski racers are nothing if not flexible so we will be ready for anything that comes our way!

Best regards,
Willy

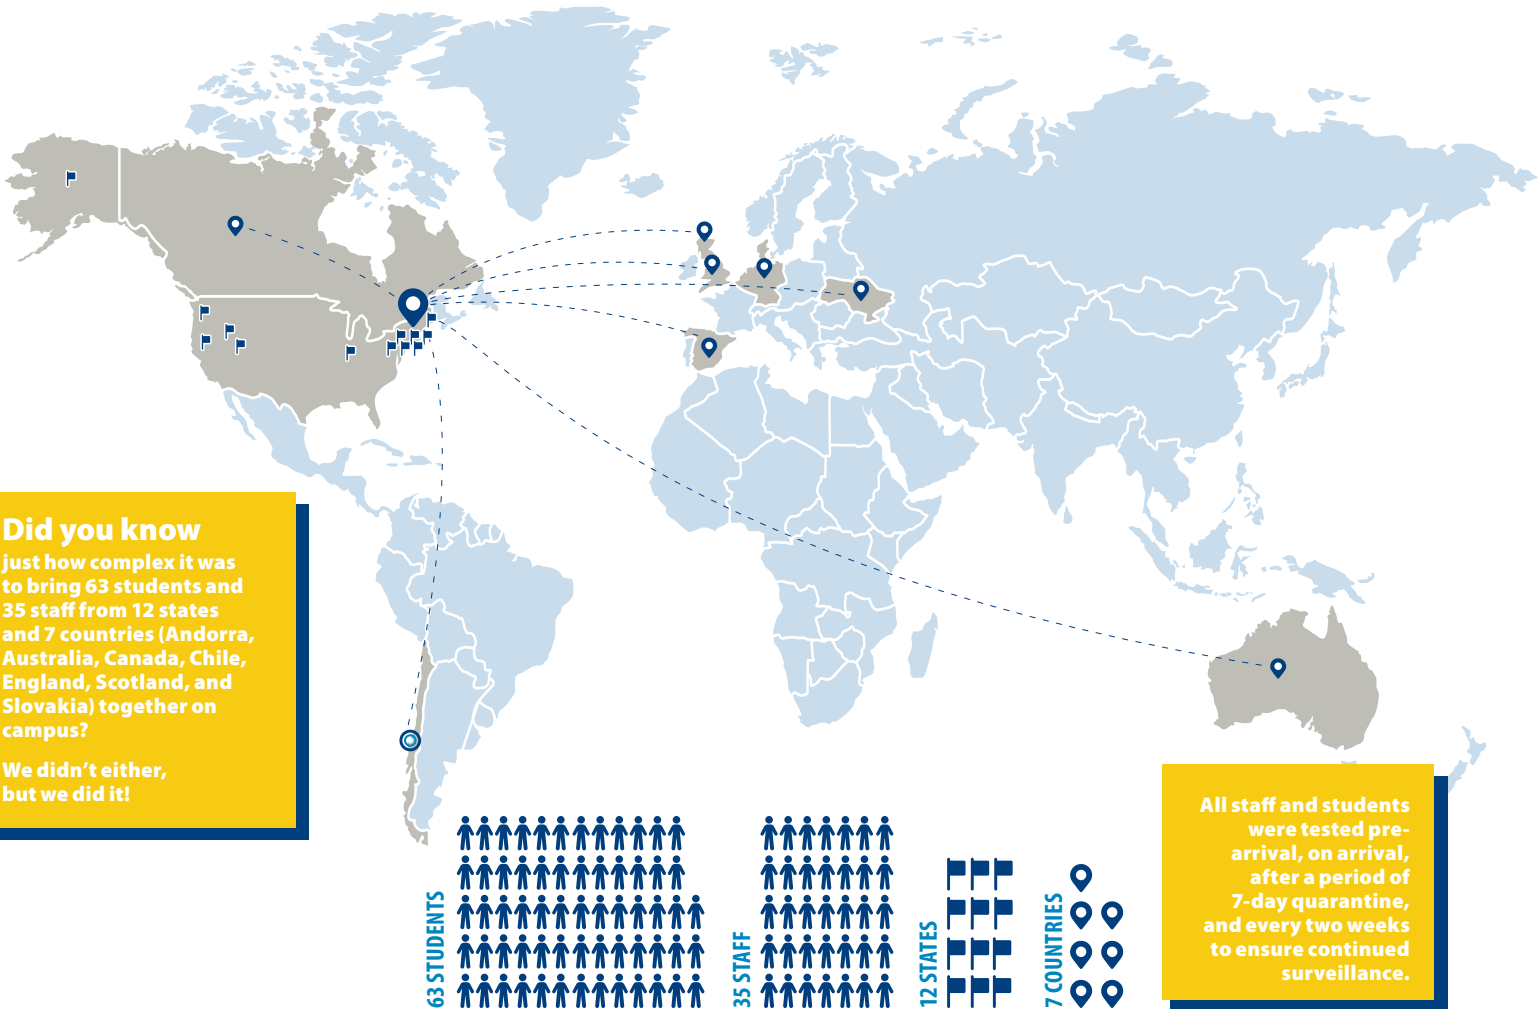

Creating the BMA Bubble

COVID Response Team established to ensure safe school activities.

On March 13, 2020, the coronavirus pandemic was declared a national emergency. In normal times, this would have been the time of the season when Burkes set their sights on important winter races to showcase their progress and plant seeds for next season. Instead, the news sent a shockwave through the nation and inevitably put a halt to all school activities for an undetermined time.

With strict state health guidelines put in place and all races canceled, students were sent back home for the remainder of the school year. As the Burke experience shifted to a virtual one, the academy's leadership remained very active, carefully monitoring the pandemic's progress and the ensuing health guidelines to begin plans for the new academic year.

In the face of this unprecedented health situation and hopeful for the school's activities to resume, the academy established a COVID Response Team in early May. This team has been central to BMA's ability to create a safe environment for students and staff to return to campus in August.

We caught up with current parent Dr. Kevin W. Dwyer, P '22, '23, an orthopedic surgeon at Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center, who was a member of this response team and explained its efforts.

The team consisted of a diverse group of medical professionals (MDs with varied backgrounds, an RN with ICU and School nursing background, and a BMA athletic trainer), school administrators, faculty, coaches, and parents. This diversity of backgrounds provided many different viewpoints and expertises that allowed the group to develop a comprehensive plan to safely open the school.

The team's initial goal was to determine if BMA should open for on-campus education and training. Once it was determined that an on-campus approach was in the best interest of students, the remaining focus of the group was to determine how we could do this safely following local Vermont, national, and international guidelines.

BMA'S COVID Response Team divided its work into small focus groups to tackle the following topics: organizing COVID tests, developing a return to campus plan and operation during the pandemic, preparing the medical staff and network (including the creation of the BMA Health Center, quarantine and isolation plan, virus outbreak plan, PPE and medical equipment plan, legal and regulatory assessment, and ski camps/travel plan).

To succeed, our plan relied on the following requirements: all staff and students were tested pre-arrival, on arrival, after a period of 7-day quarantine, and every two weeks to ensure continued surveillance; upon the reopening phase and during the quarantine period, there was limited contact between everyone including temporary dorms for students based upon their zone of travel; masks were worn in certain areas of higher risk; and the Burke bubble had limited outside contact.

Students had to have a negative COVID test before going back to school. They were then tested the first day upon returning, and then a week later. Students who were flying nationally and internationally arrived first, followed by students driving three days later.

At the heart of all our planning was a relentless concern for the safety of staff and students, not endangering the local community, and providing a meaningful educational and successful ski season for the racers.

An added challenge as part of our planning concerned the fact that students come from many different countries and regions of the US. The reopening plan was designed based upon the school's geographic diversity, with a staged return to campus that grouped students from the same region in temporary dorms until the 14-day quarantine period was complete and staff and students had three negative tests. Guidelines for VT and CDC were utilized.

Luckily, all student and staff tests were negative, so the group was then treated as a cohort in phase two. Testing went off without a hitch, and the testing turnaround has been faster than expected. Students were excellent about wearing their masks, keeping reopening rules of quarantine.

Since school has opened, accountability for the implementation and management of our COVID Response plan has shifted to the newly created Health Center and the addition of the two new school nurses. The nurses have been essential and an amazing asset to the reopening, testing, and management of the plan.

Moving forward, I think the biggest threat to BMA is from outside the bubble. It is impossible as we move into ski travel and the competition period not to have a greater risk associated with interaction with outsiders to the bubble. This travel is where mitigation tactics come into play. Routine testing and daily health screening are incredibly important. Keeping travel groups separate is also important, with, for example, FIS boys traveling only with FIS boys. The goal is to limit potential exposures and limit the number to quarantine if there is a positive case.

Through this entire process, our COVID Response Team has been very impressed with the leadership that Willy exemplified. The diversity of the team led to many productive discussions and resolutions. Willy was receptive on all levels, and we appreciate that as both health care providers and parents.

Wellness

The new campus Health Center has student & staff wellness at heart.

The onset of the COVID pandemic has had various impacts on the school's activities and operations, including how it handles student and staff physical and mental wellness.

"Historically, our athletic trainers and dorm parents would care for students' basic health needs and fulfill duties such as taking them to various health care providers for appointments as necessary," explains Willy Booker '96, BMA Head of School. "However, late last spring it became obvious as part of our COVID Team's recommendations that meeting the guidance for operating the school coupled with the ongoing care of our students was going to be too much for our staff to manage."

This realization led to the establishment of a new campus Health Center to vastly improve the academy's standard of care on an ongoing basis as well as help the school manage the complex protocols related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Health Center

Early Covid Management Efforts

The center was created in response to COVID but provides many additional services that benefit the school in the long run, far beyond the pandemic situation. One aspect that is very specific to the pandemic is conducting the PCR nasal swab testing that we do for our entire community bi-weekly. Additionally, they help navigate the decision to quarantine students who may be showing symptoms relating to COVID-19.

On campus, the Center is located in Frazier House and provides our community with a space that is welcoming and accessible. It is currently open three days per week for a total of 16 hours.

Essential Partnership with Northern Counties Health Care (NCHC)

To establish its Health Center, BMA partnered with the Northern Counties Health Care (NCHC). Through this agreement, NCHC provides BMA access to three medical staff, medical supplies and students receive their care through office visits and telehealth appointments.

"Northern Counties Health Care remains dedicated to ensuring the health and wellbeing of everyone in the Northeast Kingdom and we are happy to assist Burke Mountain Academy in ensuring their students get the care they need, especially in light of the upcoming coming flu season and the ongoing novel coronavirus pandemic," said Christopher Towne, Director of FQHC Operations.

Head To Toe Health Care

Beyond COVID prevention efforts, the Health Center provides a place for routine care to students and staff, health guidance and assistance for self-care, a safety net to help protect against illnesses on campus, a place to rest when students and staff are feeling under the weather, a person to talk to, and a quiet place to have a Zoom meeting with a doctor or mental health clinician. In addition, the Center handles and administers a wide range of medications from cough suppressants to antibiotic ointments and eye care.

Early Positive Impact

There has been an outpouring of support for the Health Center from both students and staff. One of the positive aspects has been the availability of the nursing staff to assess students on demand, refer for swift follow-up, help with medical transportation or retrieval of medications, and collaborate to share the load with other staff such as dorm parents and the school's athletic trainer.

Shifting Student Mentality On Health Care vs. Athletic Care

Although students continue to report to the athletic trainers for minor complaints and needs, it is anticipated that more students will begin coming to the Health Center as the process is normalized and the relationships grow with the nursing staff. Staff have begun to refer students to the Health Center and we anticipate this will continue and increase as the cold/flu season approaches.

By adding resources for health care management, the intent is for athletic trainers to focus their support to the students on sports related injuries as well as conditioning.

"In the past, the time athletic trainers would spend on helping students with general wellness issues limited their ability to support the intense athletic demands of the students," adds Booker. "With the nurses now on board, we have appropriate medical training to support the community on health and wellness issues that are not sports related."

Proactive, Preventative Approach

Center staff completed a flu vaccination clinic for students and staff this fall. Looking ahead they will work on preventing the development & spread of COVID-19 on campus; develop strong relationships with partnering agencies and staff such as Northern Counties Health Care; begin to operate like a free-standing clinic with capacity for flu/strep testing, urine testing, etc.; and develop strong relationships with students and staff to encourage free flow into the health center. Center staff look forward to working together with students, families, and staff to make the health care offerings adapt to emerging BMA community needs.

The Bigger Picture on Health Care at BMA

"Over time, we believe the Health Center will be an important part of a strategy to improve the attention being paid to the general wellness of the students," explains Booker. "Many of our students who attend Burke are far from home. Having an experienced medical professional who can help treat anything from the common cold to poison ivy makes life at Burke easier and, we hope, more comfortable and productive for all."

Meet the Health Center Staff

Patrick Anderson, Physician Assistant

Patrick of NCHC's St. Johnsbury Community Health Center acts as the primary care provider liaison to BMA and ensures students receive high-quality compassionate care day or night. Patrick is very highly regarded and also has extensive ski racing experience which makes his connection and understanding of the uniqueness of the BMA community more natural. Patrick is overseeing the medical care of our students and works with Abbie and Bethanie to ensure best practices in our new Health Center.

Beth Waryas, RN, CNOR

Beth has a BS in Nutritional Sciences from the University of New Hampshire and 20 years of experience from Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center where she is currently an Operating Room Nurse in the Orthopedic Department. She was a member of the NCAA D1 Ski Team at UNH and holds a US Ski & Snowboard Level 100 coaching certification.

Abbie Montgomery, MS, RN, CLC

Abbie has a BS in Nursing from the University of Vermont and an MS in Leadership in Healthcare Systems with a concentration in Education from Regis University in Denver, CO. She currently works as a clinical nurse at Northeastern Vermont Regional Hospital in the Women's Wellness Center and was previously the Public Health Nurse Supervisor for the Vermont Department of Health.

Campus Expansion

J.B. Clancy '88 and Charlie Kaplan '84 leading the Student Charette.

After more than two years of planning and anticipation, BMA celebrated the opening of its new dormitory on October 1st. The dorm includes 7 bedrooms (14 beds); a large entry way with plenty of cubby space for jackets, shoes, and gear; laundry machines and a communal refrigerator; a large common room that doubles as the campus movie theater; and great views from every window.

There are two staff apartments, including a three-bedroom family unit and a studio apartment. The students and staff have quickly settled into the space and it's hard to imagine campus without this new addition.

We made tremendous progress in funding the dormitory project during the initial months and we are deeply grateful to the current families and trustees who stepped forward to kickstart the project's construction through their generous support. Last spring, as the COVID-19 pandemic was beginning to unfold and BMA made the decision to shut-down campus, we also made the decision to hit the pause button on our fundraising efforts. Here we are today, several months later, celebrating the project's completion. We are thankful that construction was able to forge ahead...and we are picking up where we left off fundraising! We have $690,000 remaining toward our $1,500,000 goal.

Help us meet a $250,000 – $1 FOR $1 matching challenge grant!

An anonymous foundation has challenged the Burkie community to match its $250,000 commitment with a $1 for $1 match opportunity.

Every dollar toward this project will be matched up to a collective $250,000.

We've made progress toward the goal, and are counting on the spirit of BMA to rise to this fun challenge!

ALL-TIME RECORD GOAL ACHIEVED

Thank you for helping us reach our goal of $475,000 in the midst of a global pandemic. We are grateful for every single gift. Your support allowed us to re-open the school this fall and to continue to provide a healthy, safe, and enriching program for our student athletes.

Burke is well positioned to manage these challenging times but we need your help now more than ever to ensure our success. Every gift makes a difference and has a positive impact on our school community.

After BMA, I started an international PG program with a few graduates from BMA and other Eastern colleges. The Program was based in Austria to provide the best skiing and training opportunities as well a cultural experience for the athlete living in Europe. Two years later I was recruited to coach the National Women's Team of Norway. This was a fantastic opportunity for me to go back to the World Cup. I had the best time, although I always had in mind to stop traveling and to start my own company.

Finally in 2011, I started my company called Frandl Sports. We offer everything a ski team, academy, club or racer needs. Three years later I was offered to take over the racing department of Rossignol Austria. It fits well together with my company and I am living my dream and enjoy it very much. I am still very much involved in ski racing, but don't have to travel all that much anymore. It is also very fun to watch ski racing a little more from the outside with a different few and can still help young talents and ski coaches sharing my experience.

I have a lot of memories of my time at BMA but not in words only in emotions, emotions full of joy and pain. What I was most admired about in my time at BMA is the commitment, passion, dedication of students, staff, parents, alumni and Board of Trustees for the school that Warren started with his big dream!

It is you, all the alumni that return back to BMA to be headmaster, teacher, coaches, or even Board Members and share your memories and experience to the new generation of students and staff. Show how strong and proud of a place this is with all the history it has. I know for sure there is no place like BMA and I was lucky to be a part of this for some time!

I wish you all the best for this school year in these challenging times.

Wolfi
