

DE LA SALLE "OAKLANDS" DEDICATED AS DAY SCHOOL

Public Tribute Paid T. P. Phelan, F. P. O'Connor, A. Orpen, Benefactors WILL OPEN SEPT. 9

Toronto has another great private school. On Sunday, accompanied by the De La Salle cadet corps and band and all the color and pomp of the Church, His Excellency Archbishop Neil McNeil consecrated the new De La Salle "Oaklands" High school, formerly the McCormick school on the eastern crest of Avenue Rd. hill, which is to be opened by the Christian Brothers on Sept. 9. This day marks a great step in the advance of the work that the Christian Brothers have been doing for the past 80 years for the boys in the city of Toronto.

The private schools of Old England, he stated, have been the backbone of the British empire and rose to the heights of a university life. It is not a fact, he asked, that the men who have wielded the destiny of the British empire and rose to the heights of a university life, many of them, of separate schools?

Public Tribute to Benefactors From this same imposing outdoor pulpit, by means of the loud speakers and the microphone, and Brother Alfred blessed particularly the generosity of three prominent citizens—T. P. Phelan, A. Orpen and Frank O'Connor, who have donated the $200,000 mortgage.

Already the Christian Brothers are planning the erection of fine series of school buildings for these seventeen and a half acres of beautiful park land in the very heart of the city.

VATICAN AND ITALY ONCE MORE AGREED

Differences Over Education Have Been Settled

Rome, Aug. 31 (UP)—The accord between the vatican and the Italian government to-day, and has been approved by Pope Pius XI and Premier Mussolini.

There was a marked lessening of tension between the vatican and the Italian government to-day. Prelates and members of the government staff fraternized openly for the first time since the open break caused principally by differences over education.

Provisions of the accord were guarded closely. It was learned, however, that both sides were satisfied with the formula for education, through a system whereby special clerical inspectors would oversee the Catholic schools.

He emphasized that it was not for the convenience of the Christian Brothers that the new school site had been bought, but for the benefit of the boys. He asked Catholic people to be generous in their gifts, especially when good times returned soon, and urged upon them to help liquidate the debt as soon as possible.

He was assisted by Rev. Michael O'Neill, of St. Thomas Aquinas church, and Father Oliver, parish priest of the Holy Rosary church. Among the assembled clergy were: Father Penney, parish priest of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament; Rev. Francis Carroll, superior of St. Augustine's Seminary; Rev. F. A. Bellisle, superior of St. Michael's College; Rev. Father Mylett, superior of the Redemptorist Fathers; Rev. Don Barroso, chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital; Rev. Bro. Urban, provincial superior of the Christian Brothers in English-Speaking Canada; Rev. Bro. Romuald, provincial general of the Christian Brothers for all America; Rev. Bro. Lewis, director of De La Salle College; Rev. Bro. Cyril, director of St. John's Industrial School; Rev. Bro. Jarlath, superintendent of the separate schools of Toronto; and Rev. Bro. Theobald, director of De La Salle.

After the dedication ceremonies, the buildings were thrown open for inspection. Through the big windows, with their southern exposure, the whole city stretches out before this new school on the hill.

GETTING LOST RACKET WORKED BY HOPEFULS

(Continued from Page One) wormed in and out of crowded exhibits like mountaineers taking the Jungfrau. This was because some of the dogs had caught the idea of raking 50 or more into a bundle and taking them on a personally conducted tour of everything from bull pens to fastidious department reports that the invading army started to devour proffered about 9:30 a.m. and gave every indication of keeping up its fastidious pace. Enough dogs to stretch from here to Oakville and part way back were rushed into the front line trenches but the lads just gobbled these high-toned dogs and then returned to the point hot dogs laid end to end run at 9:76 to the mile. This is a scoop!

SOME JUVENILE IMPOSTERS

The ice cream racket got a play or two quite early. For years it has been the habit to hold the wondrous internal postulates of ice cream, candy and animal biscuits. Somehow or other word of this got around and now freckled boys with mischievous eyes turn up every now and again to report themselves mysteriously lost.
