NEW HAMPSHIRE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION - CODE OF ETHICS AND CODE OF CONDUCT

The Code of Ethics and Code of Conduct make explicit the values and standards that New Hampshire's educators have exemplified over the years. The Code of Ethics and the Code of Conduct are both divided into the same four basic principles: Responsibility to the Education Profession and Colleagues; Responsibility to Students; Responsibility to the School Community; and the Responsible and Ethical Use of Technology. Together these two documents seek to provide guidance to the educational field while also supporting and elevating teaching as a profession. While the Code of Ethics and Code of Conduct should be read in conjunction with one another, it is important for the field to understand the vital differences between these two documents. As a substitute you may not meet the Department of Education's criteria, however our districts' expectation is that you uphold these values and standards regardless of your credential status.

The Code of Ethics is intended for all school personnel, regardless of whether the individual is a credential holder. The Code of Ethics is a set of guiding principles that articulate the responsibilities which are common to all members of the education profession. It is designed to provide guidance to educators in the daily decision making process involving their interactions with students, the school community, colleagues, parents, and the public.

The Code of Conduct is intended for credential holders and establishes boundaries of permissible and impermissible conduct for educators, whether inside or outside the classroom. The purpose of the Code of Conduct is threefold: 1) to help educators navigate through the ethical issues that inevitably arise in the course of a teaching career; 2) to establish clear standards for the education community and for the public to understand the expectations of the teaching profession; and 3) specifies the unprofessional conduct which would warrant disciplinary action to be taken against a credential holder.

It is the responsibility of the employee to become familiar with these documents. The documents can be located on our district website or by clicking the links below.

Code of Conduct

Please be reminded, that personal and political opinions should be kept out of the school environment; our individual thoughts and beliefs should not filter into our work and practice. In our work/learning environments, it is our responsibility to foster independent life-long thinkers.
