Hello Pharaohs!

Wow! What a successful first day! Today was a great way to start the new school year. It was great seeing happy scholars and smiling teachers. Today we worked on establishing expectations in the classroom, hallways, restrooms, cafeteria, morning meetings, and Family. We also engaged in community circle building, which we will continue throughout the week. All of the scholars appeared to be receptive and ready to take on this school year.

I would like to celebrate YOU, as the parents of these remarkable Pharaohs! Thank you so much for getting our scholars in the building on time. We appreciate the cars pulling in front of the school building and/or in the parking lot safely. Thank you in advance for your patience with some of the buses. Transportation is working to ensure we have buses arrive on time to all HUB stops.

Tomorrow we will start our safety drills. We will conduct all drills as practice to ensure our scholars know all protocols. Schedule changes will start tomorrow. Scholars were instructed today to use QR Codes that are posted around the school building to request a change. Thanks in advance for your patience as Ms. Williams works through these changes for all students this week. The goal is to have all schedule changes complete soon as possible. It is a priority for us.

Thank you again. I look forward to day two!!! We are Stronger Together! All in, All one, All Pharaohs!!!
