
KIERAN BROWN

Training: Royal Scottish Academy of Music And Drama, graduating with a first class honours degree in Acting.

Theatre work includes: Kieran is about to star in Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap as it embarks on a 70th anniversary tour of the UK & Ireland. Most recently he played the role of Bill Sweeney/Leonard Sawyer/Coach Ripper in Heathers the Musical at the Other Palace Theatre in London. Before this he reprised the role of First Officer William McMaster Murdoch in the company of Maury Yestons multi award winning production of Titanic during its world tour, having completed the UK & European leg the previous year. Prior to this, he understudied and played the role of The Phantom in The Phantom of the Opera at Her Majestys Theatre, London to packed houses, a five star review from BritishTheatre.com.

After making his West End debut in Les Miserables (Palace Theatre, London), Kieran went on to appear in numerous musical productions across Europe, playing roles such as Elphabas Father/Dr Dillamond/Wizard in Wicked (Apollo Victoria), The Actor in The Woman In Black (International Theatre, Vienna), Les Miserables 25th Anniversary Concert (O2 Arena, London), u/s Raoul in Love Never Dies (Adelphi Theatre), Algernon in The Importance Of Being Earnest (English Theatre, Vienna) and Love Never Dies - in Concert (Ronacher Theatre, Vienna). He also had the privilege of performing for and meeting Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II in Edinburgh, and recently HRH The Prince of Wales & Duchess of Cornwall in London.

Television credits include: Taggart (STV), Randall & Hopkirk (Deceased) (BBC1), Anatomy of an Enigma (Ch 4), and Andrew Marr's Great Scots: The Writers Who Shaped A Nation (BBC1) and most recently new crime drama Traces for the BBC.

Concerts include: In 2018 he appeared as one of The Three Phantoms during a sell out run at The Parisian Theatre in Macau, and the MES Theatre Singapore. He was seen up and down the country late last year as the lead male vocalist and host of The Greatest Show, and is an original member of one of the UK's most successful vocal groups, The Barricade Boys who he performs with regularly, including their recent no.1 UK and US tour, co-produced by Live Nation. In January 2023 he will join the group as they make their Broadway debut at the iconic 54 Below.