If you see these young ladies, make sure to congratulate them. Sports are covered on pages 11 through 13. VETERANS

DAY

2021

Words of Inspiration

This year's veteran's day speaker was former major, Mr. James G. Pradke. His experience based speech really opened the eyes of Hebron students and was definitely a tear jerker. He requested that everyone "thank a veteran", bringing the audience to their feet and onto the floor to shake the hands of our brave veterans.

A WWII veteran

Hebron High had the wonderful opportunity to welcome a World War II veteran into the school. Junior Abbi Anderson took advantage of this opportunity and interviewed this remarkable gentleman. Ray Alyea served for two years in the army, from 1944 to 1946. He is 95 years old and was apart of Post #190. Mr. Alyea was put in many locations including Japan and the Philippines. However, after a bomb was dropped, him as well as the rest of his post were forced to evacuate. We at Hebron are honored to have been able to meet this man and grateful for what he has done for our country and town.

Business Ads

A group of yearbook staffers visited businesses this month. We parked at the Middle School and visited the shops on Main Street, parked at Dairy Queen to visit the business' on Front Street, then we stopped at the strip mall to visit the businesses in Country Square Plaza.

The staffers practice interpersonal communication skills and direct sales within this fundraising process; life skills that will help them in the workforce after graduation.

We are so glad for the lift on Covid-19 restrictions so we can get out in the community and make personal connections within the town.

We would like to thank Deb McKay with Hebron Realty & Insurance, Tres Amigos, Hebron Dairy Queen, and Barclay Blocks for supporting the yearbook staffers and ordering business ads.

Academics

Integrated Chemistry & Physics

In Ms. Brown's ICP class we made Louvee Air Cars to represent and display Newton's 3 Laws of Motion. Students had to read instructions and make the cars. It was a unique learning way to show the students what the Laws of Motion are and how they are used.

Academics

Anatomy & Physiology

The A&P class is studying bone fractures and repair. They used turkey legs to demonstrate a fracture and recommend a repair method. Over the weekend, Ms Crook prepared the turkey bones for them and today they were able to carry out the break and repair procedures plus they got to enjoy turkey noodle soup

Academics

Painting Class

The painting class finished up their pixelated self-portraits. This is a color matching exercise, with 432 squares to fill. They did an awesome job!

Academics

Linear Equation Towns

Ms Estrada's Algebra 1 classes completed their projects this month. They took the information they learned about linear equations and applied that to map out and create their own city.

Academics

English with Mrs Cameron

Ms. Cameron's English classes dove into Gothic Literature by creating Haunted Houses! Ginger bread, candy, and icing in an English sounds like the place to be--turning this Christmas treat into something for Halloween!

Academics

AP Psychology

Mr Eriks' AP Psych classes completed their brain projects. Serenity, Hope, Olivia, Song & Olivia, Jayden, Griffin, Ayden, Lily & Arianna, and Heaven all created three dimensional brains and labeled the parts of the brain. They then set the brains on display for the student body to vote on the best brain. The winning brain was created by Lily Reinhart and Arianna Oseguera.

Academics

Business

Mrs. King-Licht's business classes were asked to be creative and color a turkey in order to "Tell me your brand without telling me your brand."
