UNIVERSITY HIGHLIGHTS

- YSU's concrete canoe team won the Ohio Valley Student Conference competition and placed second in the national championship.
- Not to be outdone, the Penguin Steel Bridge team designed and built a mini steel bridge that also captured the top prize at the regional competition.
- Across campus, graduates of the School Psychology program posted a perfect 100 percent first-time pass rate on the national Praxis II Exam - for the seventh straight year!
- In a mathematical modeling competition involving 25,000 teams from around the world, a group of YSU students earn Meritorious status, placing among the top 8 percent on Earth.
- Student Emily Henline was named a Fulbright Scholar, one of the most widely recognized and prestigious scholarships in the world.
- The YSU Student Investment Fund, one of the largest student-managed funds in the nation, placed second in the Global Asset Management Education Forum. The fund has outperformed the S&P 500 Index in eight out of the last nine years.
- Three international students vie for the Hult Prize - known as the Nobel Peace Prize for college students - for their proposal to help malnutrition and food insecurity in rural Africa.
- YSU's student newspaper, The Jambar, earns 10 national awards from the Society of Collegiate Journalists and also 10 statewide awards, including the top prize for coverage of COVID-19.
- The Penguin bowling team makes it to the NCAA Final Four tournament in only the program's fifth year.
