Too Many Dates

When the curtain rises, lively, lovely Louanne Miller is battling her way out of another boyfriend; when he leaves, she finds herself without "social security" for the next evening's party. The trouble begins when Louanne allows herself to be talked into having a blind date-by her three girl-friends, each of whom is having her own difficulties with the "troublesome element" (boys); Louanne has promised to "sit" with the neighbors' infant on the same evening the girls have scheduled the blind date. Louanne's mother-herself immersed in Girl Scout activities and a host of resultant troubles with younger sister Betsy-is against blind dates. Mr. Miller angrily reminds her that he met her on a blind date twenty years ago-and look at the results: the Miller family itself!

Homecoming

With the theme of the heavenly universe adorning the stage, the homecoming festivities of 1960 began. The sounding notes of the Fanfare by the ensemble announced the official reading of the scroll by the Herald, Valerie Hladky, proclaiming the King and Queen to be Gary Molzen and Lynne Chaussee. The first strains of the "Coronation March" were struck by Lynn Olson and Margaret Bailey, thus starting the Royal Procession. An enormous crowd stood to greet the new King and Queen, who were preceded by the Queen's flower girls, Jane Hammitt and Gloria Hanson, and the crown bearers, Craig Guillaume and Pat Chicoine. The Queen's train was carried by Sidney Milburn and Danny Sullivan.

With impressive splendor the royal pair marched slowly toward the stage, followed by their Senior attendants: Helen Bihlmeyer and James Walsh; Betty Tramp and Gary Eslick. Their Junior attendants were Geneva Molzen and Sally Hanson; their Sophomore, Rita Clifford; and their Freshman; Kathy Donnelly. The King and Queen, elected by popular vote of the student body, were crowned by Rosemary Patnaude, 1959's Queen and Gary Quam, President of the Student Body.

After the Coronation a crowd gathered at the Dupont Lot for the traditional bonfire and pep rally. The following morning a pep meeting, complete with skits, was held in the high school gymnasium. The rest of the forenoon was spent at the free show, presented at the State Theater.

The afternoon attraction was the Homecoming Parade, led by the Elk Point High Band. The Freshmen captured first prize; the Juniors won second; and the Seniors, third.
