Elk Point High School

Elk Point, South Dakota

Dedication

The staff of the 1966 ELK dedicates this yearbook to Mrs. Elizabeth Bristow to express the student's appreciation for her many years of hard work, patience and consideration during her tenure at Elk Point.

While teaching at Elk Point, Mrs. Bristow has been a guiding influence on students, both within and outside the classroom.

We hope that through this book, we may express a little of the gratitude we feel toward Mrs. Bristow.

Beginning Anew

The traditional Freshmen Initiation was successful due to the enthusiasm of the Senior class. Freshmen are always eager to learn with Seniors as teachers. At noon, Freshmen eat their sack lunches up town on the curb with the upperclassmen keeping out a watchful eye. The day is completed with skits put on by the Freshmen.

The Elk Point High School band, under the direction of Mr. John Courier, turned in a very busy schedule during the preceding year. With practice every morning, including marching practice during good weather, the band participated in many events. The band played and performed at all home football games, the pep band played at all home basketball games and certain members of the band were selected to play in an all-tournament band. Also, the band marched on Dakota Day in Vermillion and at the Tulip Festival in Orange City.

SENIORS PRESENT
MIDNIGHT

"Midnight", the seniors three-act presentation combined mystery and comedy. Under the direction of Mrs. Bristow Jim Myers, Arne Fennel, Mary Rubida, Roger Boldenow, Jim Swoyer, Dick Rasmussen, Pat Quinn, Roger Pierce, Rosemary Prins, Janice Schmitz, Marcia Chicoine, Julie Strand, Genny Schmitz.

A warm, human and riotously funny comedy of high school youngsters. The comedy centers around Babs, youngest of three children of the attractive Harriet Howard. Babs' greatest satisfactions in life are her attempts to set right the lives of all who come into her life. The plot concerns the arrival of a young airplane pilot, Phillip Ward, whose father was a close friend of the youngsters' parents. His close resemblance to a popular young movie actor causes many humorous complications. Things do not all turn out the way Babs plans, but the play comes to a happy and amusing conclusion full of surprise and action. The comedy has great charm, much well-developed suspense, and a variety of excellent and lovable characters.
