Friend:

Let us not forget the happenings, but let us remember and have more.'

Let us not hold back our friendship, but express it in every way possible.

Let us not stop in time, but expand forever.

Let us not make hasty decisions,
but think things through clearly.

Let us not move through time too quickly, but take it moment by moment.

Let us not forget the past, but wait anxiously for the future.

Let us not run away from each other, but help each other when we can.

Let us not ignore situations, but face them and correct them.

Let us not feel hate, but fill our hearts with love.

Let us not be subject to fears, but face each day courageous and ambitious.

Let us not forget the familiar faces, but let us grow to know more.

Let us not forget the friendships,
but let us add to the friendships.

Let us not forget each other, but let us grow together and remember.

The class of 1977 initiated the opening of the middle school with their presence and a reputation of threats and terrorist tactics, left the class undaunted as they were promoted through Junior High into High School, much to the relief of the previous teachers and apprehension of the administration and high school teachers. The old tradition of rotten eggs, oversized shoes and the smell, left the halls of EPHS when the class of '77 entered. Our Freshman year began wrong and didn't seem to get any better. Such as the Homecoming bonfire which may of been called the smallest. To top it off mother nature felt it was the time to rain. Oh well it wouldn't of been much anyway. Some seniors will never forget our first day in Freshman English. Remember Mrs.

Johnson. Petrified wasn't the word for it. Our stream of events continued to happen in the same manner as before. The Freshmen class party was the most talk talked about event of the year. It was held at the Sand Dunes and the great amount of five people came. As the year came to a close we felt somewhat let down the being "Big" Freshmen wasn't any different then being Eighth graders. Our Sophomore year was better. Except that Biology. Remember...as Sophomores those good grades! How many can remember the time when someone frog got loose from its pin holding it down? Not much was left of that frog to jump but it did! We have now become Juniors. Our reputation is still with us and always will be, but not as talked about. Class rings, magazine sales, and sports are on our minds now.

The most money from magazine sales was raised than any previous year. We didn't feel this was enough money, so we held a car wash. Many cars were washed and a sufficient amount of money was raised. As the year closed we felt happy and contented. Our big year was ahead of us now, as we are Seniors. We began the year by breaking our own tradition of not having goal post on our homecoming float; thus we didn't place. Government days was a learning experience but fun. Nice hair cuts guys. The Seniors class play was a success! "Desperate Ambrose" was presented. Yum wasn't that coffee good?!

Thanks Juniors for a great prom. At the Oasis. With tears at Graduation and apprehension of years to follow we close our school years. To step into Newer things. Thanks to our parents, and teachers for helping us to be better people and citizens.

A poet once said it. A hard rain is going to fall. Then the question is, What do you do now my friends? If you cannot hear the Sounds of Silence. You are really deaf. Open your eyes and ears to listen for the rain. And if you think I'm talking about water from the sky. I only feel sorry for you. Don't waste your life. Prepare for the rain. To answer the question. A few suggestions.

Walk on the water until you start sinking. Climb the mountains so all can see it. Shout it, speak it, feel it, and breathe it. Go among the black until it has stopped. Walk to the depths of the deepest black forest. My blue eyed son you must be heard. So all souls can feel it. Don't stop until the forest is cleared. For as we stand here the past lies in the gutter; and the clown has no smile. How can they laugh at the meaningless party's. Don't they hear the cry of their children? People laugh, people starve, where can justice be?

One more thing. Know your song well before you start singing. You are a child of the Universe. You have a right to be here. Just as do the trees and the stars. Don't waste that right but work for achievement. Your goals are your own, and no one else's. Use your possessions wise. It is the highest crime of humanity not to use your talents and search for your goals. Remember Strive to be happy, and greatest of all;
Go among the people. Happiness and peace are the two greatest virtues a human can hold.

In the Process of Learning?

"POINTER" STAFF FACE DEADLINES

The "Pointer" staff with Kim Rosenbaum and Sandy Staum as the Editor and Ass't. Editor and Tony Chicoine and Eilene Workman as the photographers met every Tuesday deadline. The "Pointer" is a special part of the "Leader Currier" newspaper. It contains all the exciting events of the week and some of the not so exciting events. But if it's an important event, the "Pointer" staff interviewed the participants and kept the school and community informed. Each member was required to interview and write at least one story for the "Pointer." It's a busy year but also fun. Some of the highlights of this year were a trip to Brookings for the Publications Institute Convention at SDSU, the final dinner at Walt and Mary's in Sioux Falls, and the Publications Institute Camp at SDSU for next year's Editor.

1977 "Elk" Expanded

Each year the annual staff works for a bigger and better annual. This year "The Elk" contained color pages and more pages full of memories. Terri Gates and Mary Limoges organized and directed the annual staff as the co-editors. The photographers were Eileen Workman and Tony Chicone. The 1976-'77 year was a fast paced year, at least for the annual members. It seemed that the deadline came and passed before anyone was completely ready. But the '77 "Elk" was the biggest and the best yearbook to date.

You call this working on the annual?

The key to a winning season is enthusiasm, of the coaches, team, cheerleaders, and above all the spectators. Pictured here are some of the classic examples of the support they gave at the games. By uniting we stand, by dividing we fall."
