World History I

Grade 9

Honors

World History I is a two-semester course that provides a broad survey of World History. In year one, students will examine important historical events, as well as geographic, social, political and economic factors of selected civilizations from various time periods. This course will begin with Early Civilizations and continue into the Enlightenment. We will focus on how ideas and events of the past have shaped our current world. In preparing this syllabus the Standards set forth by the Massachusetts Department of Education were reviewed and incorporated as necessary.

World History I is a two-semester course that provides a broad survey of World History. In year one, students will examine important historical events, as well as geographic, social, political and economic factors of selected civilizations from various time periods. This course will begin with Early Civilizations and continue into the Enlightenment. We will focus on how ideas and events of the past have shaped our current world. As an Honors course, more will be expected of students. The class moves at a faster pace, the analysis of material is more in depth and the expectations for the quality of student work are more rigorous. Students are also expected to take greater responsibility for their own learning, including conduction independent research. In preparing this syllabus the Standards set forth by the Massachusetts Department of Education were reviewed and incorporated as necessary.
