Dear Parent or Guardian,

Each year the Tennessee Department of Education examines schools' performance across several different indicators to provide an overall look at how schools are serving the needs of all students. The department of education included the following indicators in its analysis of school accountability:

- Student achievement
- Student growth
- Chronic absenteeism
- English learner proficiency exam (ELPA)

More information on each of these indicators and the data used to define them can be found on the Tennessee Department of Education's Accountability Protocol webpage. Under the federal Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), the department is required to use the school accountability results to identify those schools with the lowest performance and the lowest performance across student groups (e.g., individual racial/ethnic student groups, students with disabilities, economically disadvantaged, and English learners). These schools will receive additional supports from the department.

We are writing to inform you that Rogersville City School was identified for Targeted Support and Improvement (TSI) as required by ESSA and the U.S. Department of Education during the 2021-2022 school year, therefore; the destination remains during the 2022-23 school year.

Rogersville City School is identified for the following student groups:

- TSI – BHN (Black/Hispanic/Native American) – student achievement
- TSI – SWD (Students With Disabilities) – student achievement

Our school is working hard with the district and the Tennessee Department of Education to increase student performance by focusing on mastery of standards using common formative assessments, analysis of those assessments, and implementing best practice interventions. We encourage you to help by participating in the development and implementation of our school improvement plan and setting high expectations for your student's learning. Parents can help students achieve by being engaged with what your students are learning and making sure they are in school every day, ready to learn.

Sincerely,

David Hartsook, Principal
