

Greenwich Public Schools Curriculum Overview

Modern European History

Personalized learning is achieved through a standards-based, rigorous and relevant curriculum that is aligned to digital tools and resources.

Note: Teachers retain professional discretion in how the learning is presented based on the needs and interests of their students.

Course Description

After a brief introductory unit on the origins of modernity, this course will focus on European history from 1870 to the present. Particular attention will be paid to political, diplomatic, economic, technological and cultural innovations as students pursue the essential question: How does 20th century carnage and oppression relate to freedom and opportunity in Europe?

Unit Pacing Guide

- Unit One: Europe Dominates the World (1884-1914) (5-6 days)
- Unit Two: Collapse into War (1900-1922) (9-10 days)
- Unit Three: Russian Revolution & Totalitarianism (1917-1939) (9-10 days)
- Unit Four: WWII (1935-1945) (9-10 days)
- Unit Five: Cold War Europe (1945-1991) (11-12 days)
- Unit Six: Post Cold War Europe (1991-present) (9-10 days)

Enduring Understanding for the course:

Despite horrific carnage and oppression in the 20th century, today Europe enjoys much freedom and opportunity. How do 20th-century carnage and oppression relate to freedom and opportunity in Europe?

Unit One Enduring Understanding

- The rise of industrialism fueled the rise of imperialism
- The growth of industrialism and imperialism led to the rise of the bourgeoisie class
- Karl Marx criticized both industrialism and imperialism as exploitative systems and his theory of communism offered an alternative to the status quo in the 20th century.
- The Impressionist art of the era reflects the technological trends of the era and the dominance of the bourgeoisie class.

Unit Two Enduring Understanding

- Though the proximate cause of the war was the assassination of Franz Ferdinand, tension in Europe had reached its breaking point due to militarism, alliances, imperialism, industrialism and nationalism.
- The mechanization and total war of WWI made it the most horrific war to date.
- World War One spawned other tragedies such as the Armenian Genocide.
- The Treaty of Versailles was not a “peace without victory.”

Unit Three Enduring Understanding

- World War One spawned other tragedies such as the Russian Revolution and Civil War.
- Though claiming to fulfill Marx’s communist revolution, Lenin’s and Stalin’s policies were totalitarian in nature.
- Though theoretically ideologically opposites, fascism and Soviet totalitarianism were similar in tactics and brutality.
- The art of the era reflected the tension of the world.

Unit Four Enduring Understanding

- The failures of the League of Nations and Treaty of Versailles led to WWII.
- The mechanization and total war of WWII made it the most horrific war to date.
- The peace settlement with Germany after WWII was very different from the Treaty of Versailles

Unit Five Enduring Understanding

- The origins of the Cold War lie in WWII.
- The intense period of competition between the US and USSR for ideological dominance was known as the “Cold War” because the two nations never went to war directly.
- Though the US and USSR never went to war directly, they fought a series of “proxy wars” across the globe that did claim [millions] of lives.
- The Cold War eventually ended due to the unsustainable policies of the USSR.
- During the Cold War nations experienced domestic challenges related to social and economic factors.

Greenwich Public Schools Vision of the Graduate

- Pose and pursue substantive questions
 - Students will develop and explore their own research questions during a variety of research assignments
- Critically interpret, evaluate, and synthesize information
 - Students will critically interpret, evaluate and synthesize information by analyzing a variety of primary and secondary sources and by conducting research. This source evaluation and research will allow students to gain a variety of perspectives.
- Explore, define, and solve complex problems
 - Students will apply historical knowledge to critically analyze current problems and issues.
- Communicate effectively for a given purpose
 - Students will be evaluated on their ability to communicate effectively through a variety of methods. Through persuasive writing assignments, class discussions and presentations, students will continue to develop and improve their communication skills.
- Advocate for ideas, causes and actions
 - Students will evaluate past advocacy successes and failures and determine when others have chosen to fight for causes and taken action.
- Generate innovative, creative ideas and products
 - Students will demonstrate their mastery of curriculum objectives with innovative projects. Students will explore answers to essential questions through creative and varied assignments with research structured by the use of GPS research process.
- Collaborate with others to produce a unified work and/or heightened understanding
 - Students will learn to collaborate with one another while working in structured groups in a variety of cooperative learning activities in order to create a final product.
- Contribute to community through dialogue, service, and/or leadership
 - Through the study of community outreach, students gain the skills they need to become active citizens. The community service project will give students the opportunity to contribute to the community.
- Conduct themselves in an ethical and responsible manner
 - Current and historical situations will be analyzed so students gain perspective and information in order to conduct themselves in a responsible manner.
- Recognize and respect other cultural contexts and points of view

- Through teaching about others' political ideologies, students will recognize and respect other cultural contexts and points of view. By developing an understanding of and empathy for others, students will appreciate differences and similarities between themselves and others.
- Pursue their unique interests, passions and curiosities
 - Students will have choice in many assignments and will be able to pursue their interests, specifically through the Capstone Community Service Project.
- Respond to failures and successes with reflection and resilience
 - Students will reflect on their writing and group work, in order to analyze what they did well and where they can improve. Frequent and constructive feedback by teachers will be used to ensure continuous reflection and refinement.
- Be responsible for their own mental and physical health
 - Social studies classes will help students develop study skills, and reduce stress through organization and planning.
