

CONVERSATIONS WITH CARLA

The voices of community stakeholders matter in our public schools - I want to hear from you! I invite parents and caregivers to join me in conversation throughout the school year to share ideas and help build a more connected school community for our kids.

My goals in enabling these conversations are:

1. To create respectful and safe spaces where you can speak your thoughts.
2. To help build stronger relationships among families, students, and school staff.
3. To enable community collaboration as we work to identify priorities and develop a long-term strategic plan for our district.

This month, I'd love to hear your thoughts about the supports your kids are getting so far – academic, social/emotional, special education, acceleration, accommodations, and so on. Or stop by to talk about whatever is on your mind! I'm here to listen and learn.

In person:

Monday, November 14, 6:00-7:30 pm

North Shore Library Community Room
6800 N. Port Washington Road

Virtual:

Thursday, November 17, 6:00-7:00 pm
