Introduction

The Illinois Performance Evaluation Reform Act (PERA) governs teacher evaluation in the state of Illinois. The Moline District No. 40 Teacher Professional Growth System is designed as a guide to implement the law. It is not intended to reiterate every aspect of the law. Interested parties should refer to the actual law for further clarification of its requirements.

The Joint Committee on Teacher Evaluation was formed in the Fall of 2015 to incorporate student growth into teacher evaluations. The Joint Committee on Teacher Evaluation was composed of equal representation selected by the District and the Moline Education Association.

The Moline School District No. 40 Teacher Professional Growth System will be based on 70% Professional Practice and 30% Student Growth beginning in the school year 2016-17.

The Professional Practice component of the Teacher Professional Growth System is based on Charlotte Danielson's Framework for Professional Practice. The Danielson Model includes four domains (Planning and Preparation, The Classroom Environment, Instruction, and Professional Responsibilities). Twenty-two components are defined across the domains. Each component includes additional elements to further clarify professional teaching expectations. According to the model, teachers are rated as unsatisfactory, basic, proficient or distinguished in each subcomponent. These ratings categories have been modified to unsatisfactory, needs improvement, proficient, and excellent to be consistent with the provisions outlined in the law.

While summative evaluation is a required and necessary part of the Moline School District No. 40 Teacher Professional Growth System, supervision of instruction and corresponding professional development is designed to provide feedback and assist teachers in their journey to continuously improve their instructional effectiveness. Therefore, teachers and administrators should not view evaluation as a formal, summative evaluation that occurs at periodic, designated points in time, but rather, as an ongoing process of continuous reflection and improvement.

The Moline School District No. 40 Teacher Professional Growth System is divided into four sections: Professional Practice Evaluation Protocols and Procedures, Professional Practice Forms, Student Growth, and Calculation of Final Summative Rating.

Part One: Professional Practice Evaluation Protocols and Procedures

Evaluation Protocols for Formal Classroom Evaluations

Tenured If most recent evaluation is: -proficient -excellent	2 observations (minimum) -1 formal* -1 formal or informal and 1 informal (minimum) in the first of the two “off” cycle years	3 year cycle Summative rating submitted prior to the end of the school year
Tenured If most recent evaluation is: -needs improvement	3 observations (minimum) -2 formal* -1 formal or informal	Annual review Summative rating submitted at least once in the school year following the receipt of the rating of Needs Improvement
Tenured If most recent evaluation is: -unsatisfactory	3 observations (minimum) -2 formal* -1 formal or informal	Annual review Summative rating at least once in the school year following the receipt of the rating of Unsatisfactory
Non tenured	3 observations (minimum) -2 formal* -1 formal or informal	Annual review Summative rating submitted by February 20

*If an administrator chooses to include an informal observation as one of the minimum number of observations included in a teacher’s evaluation, the teacher may request up to one additional formal observation. Administration may choose to conduct additional formal observations that exceed the minimum number outlined in each of the above categories and reserves the right to visit classrooms and conduct informal observations at their discretion.

Observations will include personal observations of the teacher in the classroom by an evaluator unless the teacher does not have classroom duties. If the teacher does not have any classroom duties, then personal observations conducted of the teacher may include, but are not limited to facilitation of small group or committee work, parent or group meetings, one-on-one instruction, or other activities pertinent to the employee’s job responsibilities.

Evaluation Cycles

By the start of each school term (i.e. by the first day the students are required to be in attendance or within 30 days after a teacher contract is executed if the teacher is hired after the beginning of the school term), the District must provide written notice (electronic or paper) that a performance evaluation will be conducted in that school term to each teacher affected. The notice must include the following:

- a copy of the rubric used to rate the teacher against identified standards and goals and other tools to be used to determine a performance evaluation rating;
- a summary of the manner in which student growth and professional practice measures are used in the evaluation related to the evaluation ratings;
- a summary of the District's procedures related to the provision of professional development or remediation in the event the teacher receives a "needs improvement" or "unsatisfactory," including the evaluation tools to be used during the remediation period.

Evidence of professional practice shall be collected through the use of formal and informal observation(s) and be consistent with the rubric. An evaluator may designate another evaluator to conduct the observation if he/she cannot complete all of them or the observations cannot be completed in a timely manner.

Tenured Teachers

Tenured teachers shall be evaluated at least once in the course of every three (3) years.

Any tenured teacher whose performance is rated as either "needs improvement" or "unsatisfactory" must be evaluated at least once in the school year following the receipt of such rating.

A tenured teacher may be evaluated more frequently in the discretion of a supervising administrator.

Professional Development Plan Process

A tenured teacher who receives an overall rating of "needs improvement" will be expected to meet the provisions of a professional development plan (PDP) developed by the evaluator in consultation with the teacher and their supervising administrator. The PDP must be developed and commenced within 30 school days after receiving a summative rating of needs improvement (See Form F).

The PDP must take into account the teacher's ongoing professional responsibilities including his/her regular teaching assignments. The PDP must be directed to the areas that need improvement and include supports that the District will provide to address the areas identified as needing improvement. Examples of support can include but are not limited to specific performance expectations based on administrator feedback; peer mentoring; completions of specific professional development within the district, externally, or online; or other activities. The PDP will be in accordance with legal requirements. Tenured teachers who are placed on a PDP will have until their next summative evaluation (i.e., the first evaluation in the school year following the receipt of the needs improvement rating) to satisfy the terms of the plan. If the teacher meets the provisions of his/her professional development plan and the teacher's overall summative evaluation rating is equal to or better than "proficient" in the school year following a rating of "needs improvement," the teacher shall be reinstated to the regular evaluation schedule. If the teacher's overall summative evaluation rating is "needs improvement," then the teacher shall complete the PDP process described above again. If the teacher's overall summative evaluation rating is "unsatisfactory," the teacher shall complete the remediation process described below.

Remediation Plan Process

A tenured teacher who receives an overall rating of “unsatisfactory” will be placed on a remediation plan provided the deficiencies are deemed remediable in accordance with law. The following individuals will participate in the plan: the tenured teacher rated unsatisfactory, an evaluator, and a consulting teacher selected by the evaluator. The plan must be developed and commenced within 30 school days of the teacher receiving a rating of “unsatisfactory.” The consulting teacher will participate in developing the plan, but the final decision as to the evaluation shall be done solely by the evaluator.

The consulting teacher who has been selected must meet the following criteria:

1. Received an “Excellent” rating in most recent evaluation,
2. Has at least five years of teaching experience,
3. Is an educational employee as defined in the Illinois Educational Labor Relations Act,
4. Has a reasonable familiarity with the assignment of the teacher being remediated.

The selection of the consulting teacher process consists of the following:

1. The MEA will submit to the District a roster of at least five (5) qualified teachers from which the consulting teacher shall be selected. Each teacher must meet the criteria as listed above.
 - If there are fewer than five (5) teachers available, then the MEA shall list the names of all teachers who are qualified.
 - In the event of a dispute between the District and the MEA as to qualifications, ISBE shall determine the qualifications.
2. If, and only if, the first option is not successful in finding a consulting teacher, the District may contact qualified teachers within the District.
3. If this is unsuccessful, the District shall request a qualified consulting teacher from the Regional Office of Education.

If the consulting teacher becomes unavailable during the course of the remediation plan, a new consulting teacher will be selected in the same manner as the initial teacher was selected. The consulting teachers shall not be compelled to testify at any dismissal hearing, either as to the rating process or for opinions about the teacher who is under remediation. The role of the consulting teacher is set by the School Code. The consulting teacher shall provide advice to the teacher on how to improve teaching skills and to successfully complete the remediation plan, but shall not be required to participate in the evaluation. The consulting teacher shall be informed, through conferences with the evaluator and the teacher, of the results of the periodic evaluations in order to continue to provide assistance to the teacher under a remediation plan.

Teachers will have 90 school days to meet the terms of the plan. There will be a mid-point and final evaluation during and at the end of the remediation period. Each evaluation shall assess the teacher’s performance during the time period since the prior evaluation. Each evaluation shall be in writing and include ratings in which any deficiencies in performance and recommendations for correction are identified. The final evaluation shall include an overall rating of the teacher’s performance during the entire remediation period. Within 10 days upon completion of the mid-point evaluations, a copy of a written evaluation with ratings shall be provided to and discussed with the teacher. Within 10 days after the conclusion of the remediation timeframe, a copy of the final written evaluation with ratings shall be provided to and discussed with the teacher. However, the District shall not lose jurisdiction to discharge a teacher in the event the evaluation is not issued within 10 days after the conclusion of the remediation plan. Evaluations at the conclusion of the remediation process shall be separate and distinct from the required annual evaluations of teachers and shall not be subject to the guidelines and procedures relating to those annual evaluations. The evaluator may, but is not required to, use the forms provided for the annual evaluation of teachers in the Teacher Professional Growth System.

If a teacher completes the remediation plan with a rating of equal to or better than proficient in the school year following the rating of unsatisfactory the teacher shall be reinstated to the regular evaluation schedule. Any teacher who fails to complete a remediation plan with a rating equal to or better than proficient shall be dismissed in accordance with law.

Failure of strict compliance with the time requirements contained in 24A-5 of the School Code (105 ILCS 5/24A-5) shall not invalidate the results of the remediation plan.

Nothing prevents the immediate dismissal of a teacher for deficiencies which are deemed irremediable or for actions which are injurious to or endanger the health or person of students in the classroom or school.

Non-Tenured Teachers

Non-tenured teachers will be formally evaluated every year.

Nothing prevents the dismissal or non-renewal of a non-tenured teacher for any reason not prohibited by law.

Procedures

Formal Observation

A formal observation is a specific window of time that is scheduled between the teacher and the evaluator. At any point during that window of time, the evaluator will be able to directly observe professional practices in the classroom or in the school. Formal observations shall allow the evaluator to acquire evidence of the teacher's planning, instructional delivery and classroom management skills, and shall involve one of the following:

- an observation of the teacher in the classroom for a minimum of 45 minutes at a time;
- an observation during a complete lesson; or
- an observation during an entire class period

1. Pre-conference between teacher and evaluator – Prior to the conference, the teacher must submit to the evaluator a written lesson or unit plan and/or other evidence of planning for the instruction during the time the formal observation may occur and make recommendations for areas on which the evaluator should focus during the observation. During the conference they shall discuss the lesson/unit plan or

- instructional planning and any areas on which the evaluator should focus during the observation (See Form A).
2. Observation
 3. Post-conference between the teacher and evaluator to discuss the evidence collected about the teacher's professional practice (including areas of focus) and the judgments made – within seven (7) days of the observation – with written feedback (See Form B). During this conference the teacher shall reflect upon instruction and may provide additional information or explanation about the lesson to the evaluator (See Form D). The qualified evaluator shall provide feedback to the teacher about his/her professional practice, including evidence specific to the areas of focus designated during the pre-observation conference. Evidence collected shall be consistent with rubric. The qualified evaluator shall, during the conference, share with the teacher any evidence collected and judgments made.

Informal Observation

An informal observation of a teacher by an evaluator that is not announced in advance of the observation and not subject to a minimum time requirement.

1. Feedback will be given orally or in writing (electronic or paper). Written feedback must be given to the teacher in writing within three (3) school days if the information from the informal observation is to be used for evaluation purposes.
2. The teacher or evaluator can request a post conference.

Teachers may request an evaluator give a “to date” evaluation rating in writing. Evaluators are required to notify a teacher if evidence collected to date may result in the teacher receiving a “needs improvement” or “unsatisfactory” performance evaluation rating.

Teachers shall work with the evaluator or others to identify areas for improvement.

Summative Evaluation

Teachers will be rated as “Excellent,” “Proficient,” “Needs Improvement,” or “Unsatisfactory.” Each evaluation shall specify the strengths and weaknesses with supporting reasons for the comments made. A copy of the evaluation will be included in the teacher's personnel file and a copy of the evaluation will be provided to the teachers (See Form E).

Teachers who receive a summative rating of “Needs Improvement” will have the option of requesting an alternate evaluator for their next evaluation cycle.

A principal shall not be prohibited from evaluating any teachers within a school during his or her first year as principal of such school. If a first-year principal exercises this option, then a new 3-year evaluation cycle must be established.

Self-Reflection

Reflective practice is an important component of professional growth and a characteristic shared by highly effective teachers. Accordingly, Moline School District No. 40 strongly encourages all teachers to participate in a formal self-reflective process to enhance their professional practice and promote ongoing growth and improvement (See Form C).

Tenured teachers who elect to participate in this portion of the evaluation system will meet with their evaluator no later than October 1 of the school year immediately following their most recent summative evaluation conference to discuss goals and focus areas. Teachers will collect evidence of work related to their specific goal areas and any other areas of the Danielson Framework that they wish to share with their evaluator. Tenured teachers who elect to participate in this portion of the evaluation process will complete a meeting with their evaluator to discuss the evidence they have collected by January 30 of the year in which their summative evaluation is due.

Non-tenured teachers who elect to participate in this portion of the evaluation system will meet with their evaluator no later than October 1 of each school year to discuss goals and focus areas. Non-tenured teachers who elect to participate in this portion of the evaluation process will complete a meeting with their evaluator to discuss the evidence they have collected by December 15.

Teachers who participate in this process will be able to demonstrate their capabilities and accomplishments to their evaluators in a more accurate and complete manner.

Part Two: Student Growth

Growth Model

The Student Growth Objective (SGO) will be written to measure either simple or adjusted growth for both Type II and Type III assessments and in rare cases when a Type I assessment replaces either a Type II or Type III assessment.

Growth Model	What	Examples
Simple Growth	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Typically used when there is no trend data or national norms for the data points. ● Commonly used with district-developed assessments. ● Common set growth target. ● Compares pre-test to post-test (or more data points). 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● District common assessments ● Pre & post tests (classroom assessment sets) ● Identified group will grow by X%.
Adjusted Growth	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Used when there is trend data or national norms so that a baseline can be analyzed to form a prediction for growth. ● Commonly used with nationally normed tests. ● Sets a growth target of expected results. ● Based on baseline results, sets a growth target of expected results. Considers national norms. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● NWEA MAP, AIMSweb, EPAS ● Subgroup A will grow by Y% based upon trend data and performance against national norms. Subgroup B will grow Z% based upon trend data and performance against national norms.

Student Growth Objective Selection Timeline Protocol

The entire evaluation process spans three (3) school years with the third school year containing the summative evaluation. Student growth goals need to be identified and approved by October 1st of the first school year in the evaluation cycle. This deadline allows the person being evaluated to identify targeted student groups for growth goals in either year one or year two or year three of the evaluation cycle. For example, Teacher A may choose to have a student growth goal span the entire length of the first school year during the evaluation cycle. Teacher B, may choose a growth goal during the third year of the evaluation cycle. Since some summative evaluations must be completed and submitted to the district office prior to March 1st, Teacher B's student growth data collection would end by February 1st to allow for the summative evaluation to be completed by the evaluator.

For all nontenured teachers and tenured teachers who are required to be evaluated more frequently than every three years, the entire evaluation process spans one (1) school year. Student growth goals need to be identified and approved by October 1st. Student growth data collection must be complete by December 15 to allow for the summative evaluation to be completed by the evaluator.

Student Growth applies to: All Classroom Teachers and All teaching Speech and Language Pathologists.

Note:

- Assessments for co-teachers will coincide with the general ed. teachers.
- Art, Music, and PE classroom teachers will use the same type of assessments as general education classroom teachers.
- All IEP's for students that have Assessment Accommodations (state, district, and classroom) must be followed.

Student Growth does not apply to: School Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, School Nurses, non-teaching Media Specialists, and non-teaching Speech and language Pathologists.

Assessment Types for Student Growth

Each evaluation must include two assessments as required by the School Code. One assessment must be a Type III assessment using the district Student Growth Objective (SGO) form. Examples of Type III assessments can include teacher-created assessments, assessments designed by textbook publishers, student work samples or portfolios, assessments of student performance, and assessments designed by staff who are subject or grade-level experts that are administered commonly across a given grade or subject area in a school.

The second assessment must be created based upon a common district assessment using the district SGO form. A common district summative assessment is considered a Type II assessment. In the absence of a common district assessment, a second Type III (as mentioned above) will be utilized. In rare cases, a Type I assessment may be substituted for either a Type II or Type III assessment if mutually agreed upon between the evaluator and the teacher.

The teacher will present Student Growth Objectives (SGO's) to their qualified evaluator for approval (See Form G). In the event that a teacher and evaluator cannot come to agreement with regard to an appropriate level of student growth for each of the student learning goals, the teacher will have six (6) school days to revise their goal. If there is still no agreement or if the teacher chooses not to revise their goal(s), the matter will be turned over to and decided by the Assistant Superintendent for Administration and Human Resources and a representative from the Planning Committee, with their decision being final. The assessments and measurement models identified by the teacher shall align to the school's and district's school improvement goals.

Consideration has been given to special education, ELL, and other special area teachers. A chart with examples of the types of assessments that qualify in each category is included in Appendix A.

Part Three: Calculation of Final Summative Rating

Professional Practice Instructional Personnel

Summative Ratings within Domains

- Domains One and Four

EXCELLENT—Minimum of three components rated as excellent with no ratings of needs improvement or below.

PROFICIENT—Minimum of five components rated as proficient or better with no more than one rating of needs improvement and no ratings of unsatisfactory.

NEEDS IMPROVEMENT—A needs improvement in two components constitutes a rating of needs improvement, provided the other components are rated as proficient or excellent.

UNSATISFACTORY—A rating of unsatisfactory will result when one component is unsatisfactory and any additional component(s) is rated as needs improvement or unsatisfactory.

(Teacher attendance will be reflected in the final summative rating assigned to 4f, Showing Professionalism.)

- Domains Two and Three

EXCELLENT—Minimum of three components rated as excellent with no ratings of needs improvement or below.

PROFICIENT—Minimum of four components rated as proficient or better with no more than one rating of needs improvement and no ratings of unsatisfactory.

NEEDS IMPROVEMENT—A needs improvement in two components constitutes a rating of needs improvement, provided the other three components are rated as proficient or above.

UNSATISFACTORY— A rating of unsatisfactory will result when one component is unsatisfactory and any additional component(s) is rated as needs improvement or unsatisfactory.

*Note—If a teacher receives a needs improvement in the following components for consecutive evaluation cycles, their rating for that domain will be no higher than needs improvement:

1c: Setting Instructional Outcomes

1f: Designing Student Assessments

3c: Engaging Students in Learning

3d: Using Assessment in Instruction

4d: Participating in a Professional Community

4e: Growing and Developing Professionally

Final Summative Rating (All Domains)

EXCELLENT—Minimum of two domains rated as excellent with no ratings of needs improvement or below

PROFICIENT—Minimum of three domains rated as proficient or better with no ratings of unsatisfactory

NEEDS IMPROVEMENT—Two or more domains rated as needs improvement with no ratings of unsatisfactory or a rating of unsatisfactory in one domain with three rated as proficient or better

UNSATISFACTORY—A rating of unsatisfactory in one domain and needs improvement in one or more additional domains or two or more ratings of unsatisfactory

Failure to Improve

If a teacher receives a needs improvement or unsatisfactory in one of the domains for consecutive evaluation cycles, their summative rating will be no higher than needs improvement.

Professional Practice Non-Traditional Instructional Personnel

Within domains, employees in non-traditional instructional categories will utilize the Danielson Framework appropriate for their job responsibilities. The summative ratings will be adapted in a similar manner such that ratings in domains with an even number of components equally split between proficient and excellent will be rounded up to excellent and domains with an odd number of components will require the majority of ratings to be excellent with no ratings of needs improvement or unsatisfactory. Similarly, an employee who receives two or more ratings of needs improvement cannot be rated higher than needs improvement, and an employee with an unsatisfactory and one or more ratings of needs improvement will receive a rating of unsatisfactory. Employees can be rated proficient with only one rating of needs improvement.

Summative ratings will be determined in the same manner as for instructional personnel.

Student Growth

Quantifying Summative Growth Ratings to Ensure Consistency:

1. Option 1: On assessments in which a percentage score is assigned, growth will be defined utilizing the “Half of 100” method (Wierda). On these assessments the pre-test score will be subtracted from 100 and students must grow by half of the remaining amount (e.g. pre-test score of 30: $100-30=70$; $70/2=35$; minimum post-test score of 65 required to indicate growth).
2. On performance assessments in which students receive a pre-test score of 1,2,3, or 4, growth will be defined as moving up one rating category. (e.g., Writing assessment pre-test score of “2” (growth is indicated if post-test score is “3” or “4”).

Student Growth Performance Levels on Individual Assessments (based on attainment levels of the goals indicated in SGO’s)

Excellent (4)	76-100% of the students in the measured population demonstrate growth
Proficient (3)	51-75% of the students in the measured population demonstrate growth

Needs Improvement (2)	26-50% of the students in the measured population demonstrate growth
Unsatisfactory (1)	0-25% of the students in the measured population demonstrate growth

Additional Considerations:

- Teachers will round up when assigning final rating (e.g., 75.5%-76% and constitutes a rating of “Excellent”).
- Teachers will round up when determining a post-test score (e.g., 64.6% in the above example would meet the 65% expectation.)
- Students who score in the highest category on a pretest (100% or a “4”) will be included in the population for the purposes of assigning a growth rating to the teacher. However, teachers are expected to individualize instruction and promote growth for all students.
- In the event that an inordinate amount of students score high on a pretest or high scoring students regress on a post-test, the administrator and teacher will dialogue to identify possible reasons for these anomalies and remedy them wherever possible.

Mid-Point Reflective Conference

The teacher will meet with his/her evaluator at the mid-point in time during which Student Growth Objectives (SGO’s) are being measured and discuss student progress toward attaining the specified objectives. This data discussed at this conference shall not be used in determining the final teacher’s final performance rating.

Matrix for Student Growth

Each Student Growth Goal will count as 15% of the total final rating for the student growth portion of the final performance rating for a teacher. The goals will be combined using the chart below to determine which rating category will be assigned to the 30% of the final performance rating measuring student growth.

Revised May 2018

The summative rating component at the student growth portion of the Moline Teacher Professional Growth System will be reviewed annually by the Joint Committee. This will allow for review and revision as the Assessments are put into place and more educated decisions can be made. The Joint Committee shall have the sole authority to modify the student growth component of this evaluation plan; however, if the committee is unable to agree upon changes to the student growth component, the existing student growth component will remain unchanged.

Part Four
DOMAIN 1 FOR CLASSROOM TEACHERS: PLANNING AND PREPARATION

LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
1a: Demonstrating Knowledge of Content and Pedagogy	In planning and practice, teacher makes content errors or does not correct errors made by students. Teacher's plans and practice display little understanding of prerequisite relationships important to student learning of the content. Teacher displays little or no understanding of the range of pedagogical approaches suitable to student learning of the content.	Teacher is familiar with the important concepts in the discipline but displays lack of awareness of how these concepts relate to one another. Teacher's plans and practice indicate some awareness of prerequisite relationships, although such knowledge may be inaccurate or incomplete. Teacher's plans and practice reflect a limited range of pedagogical approaches to the discipline or to the students.	Teacher displays solid knowledge of the important concepts in the discipline and how these relate to one another. Teacher's plans and practice reflect accurate understanding of prerequisite relationships among topics and concepts. Teacher's plans and practice reflect familiarity with a wide range of effective pedagogical approaches in the discipline.	Teacher displays extensive knowledge of the important concepts in the discipline and how these relate both to one another and to other disciplines. Teacher's plans and practice reflect understanding of prerequisite relationships among topics and concepts and a link to necessary cognitive structures by students to ensure understanding. Teacher's plans and practice reflect familiarity with a wide range of effective pedagogical approaches in the discipline, anticipating student misconceptions.
Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
1b: Demonstrating Knowledge of Students	Teacher demonstrates little or no understanding of how students learn, and little knowledge of students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests, and special needs, and does not seek such understanding.	Teacher indicates the importance of understanding how students learn and the students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests, and special needs, and attains this knowledge for the class as a whole.	Teacher understands the active nature of student learning, and attains information about levels of development for groups of students. The teacher also purposefully seeks knowledge from several sources of students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests, and special needs, and attains this knowledge for groups of students.	Teacher actively seeks knowledge of students' levels of development and their backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests, and special needs from a variety of sources. This information is acquired for individual students.

1c: Setting Instructional Outcomes	Outcomes represent low expectations for students and lack of rigor, nor do they all reflect important learning in the discipline. Outcomes are stated as activities, rather than as student learning. Outcomes reflect only one type of learning and only one discipline or strand, and are suitable for only some students.	Outcomes represent moderately high expectations and rigor. Some reflect important learning in the discipline, and consist of a combination of outcomes and activities; Outcomes reflect several types of learning, but teacher has made no attempt at coordination or integration. Most of the outcomes are suitable for most of the students in the class based on global assessments of student learning.	Most outcomes represent rigorous and important learning in the discipline. All the instructional outcomes are clear, written in the form of student learning, and suggest viable methods of assessment. Outcomes reflect several different types of learning and opportunities for coordination. Outcomes take into account the varying needs of groups of students.	All outcomes represent rigorous and important learning in the discipline. The outcomes are clear, written in the form of student learning, and permit viable methods of assessment. Outcomes reflect several different types of learning and, where appropriate, represent opportunities for both coordination and integration. Outcomes take into account the varying needs of individual students.

1d: Demonstrating Knowledge of Resources	Teacher is unaware of resources for classroom use, for expanding one's own knowledge, or for students available through the school or district.	Teacher displays basic awareness of resources available for classroom use, for expanding one's own knowledge, and for students through the school, but no knowledge of resources available more broadly.	Teacher displays awareness of resources available for classroom use, for expanding one's own knowledge, and for students through the school or district and external to the school and on the Internet.	Teacher's knowledge of resources for classroom use, for expanding one's own knowledge, and for students is extensive, including those available through the school or district, in the community, through professional organizations and universities, and on the Internet.

1e: Designing Coherent Instruction	The series of learning experiences is poorly aligned with the instructional outcomes and does not represent a coherent structure. The activities and are not designed to engage students in active intellectual activity and have unrealistic time allocations. Instructional groups do not support the instructional outcomes and offer no variety.	Some of the learning activities and materials are suitable to the instructional outcomes, and represent a moderate cognitive challenge, but with no differentiation for different students. Instructional groups partially support the instructional outcomes, with an effort at providing some variety. The lesson or unit has a recognizable structure; the progression of activities is uneven, with most time allocations reasonable.	Teacher coordinates knowledge of content, of students, and of resources, to design a series of learning experiences aligned to instructional outcomes and suitable to groups of students. The learning activities have reasonable time allocations; they represent significant cognitive challenge, with some differentiation for different groups of students. The lesson or unit has a clear structure with appropriate and varied use of instructional groups.	Plans represent the coordination of in-depth content knowledge, understanding of different students' needs and available resources (including technology), resulting in a series of learning activities designed to engage students in high-level cognitive activity. These are differentiated, as appropriate, for individual learners. Instructional groups are varied as appropriate, with some opportunity for student choice. The lesson's or unit's structure is clear and allows for different pathways according to diverse student needs.

1f: Designing Student Assessments	Assessment procedures are not congruent with instructional outcomes; the proposed approach contains no criteria or standards. Teacher has no plan to incorporate formative assessment in the lesson or unit, nor any plans to use assessment results in designing future instruction.	Some of the instructional outcomes are assessed through the proposed approach, but others are not. Assessment criteria and standards have been developed, but they are not clear. Approach to the use of formative assessment is rudimentary, including only some of the instructional outcomes. Teacher intends to use assessment results to plan for future instruction for the class as a whole.	Teacher's plan for student assessment is aligned with the instructional outcomes; assessment methodologies may have been adapted for groups of students. Assessment criteria and standards are clear. Teacher has a well-developed strategy for using formative assessment and has designed particular approaches to be used. Teacher intends to use assessment results to plan for future instruction for groups of students.	Teacher's plan for student assessment is fully aligned with the instructional outcomes, with clear criteria and standards that show evidence of student contribution to their development. Assessment methodologies have been adapted for individual students, as needed. The approach to using formative assessment is well designed and includes student as well as teacher use of the assessment information. Teacher intends to use assessment results to plan future instruction for individual students.

DOMAIN 2 FOR CLASSROOM TEACHER: THE CLASSROOM ENVIRONMENT

LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE

2a: Creating an environment of respect and rapport	Patterns of classroom interactions, both between the teacher and students and among students, are mostly negative, inappropriate, or insensitive to students' ages, cultural backgrounds, and developmental levels. Interactions are characterized by sarcasm, put-downs, or conflict. Teacher does not deal with disrespectful behavior.	Patterns of classroom interactions, both between the teacher and students and among students, are generally appropriate but may reflect occasional inconsistencies, favoritism, and disregard for students' ages, cultures, and developmental levels. Students rarely demonstrate disrespect for one another. Teacher attempts to respond to disrespectful behavior, with uneven results. The net result of the interactions is neutral: conveying neither warmth nor conflict.	Teacher-student interactions are friendly and demonstrate general caring and respect. Such interactions are appropriate to the ages, of the students. Students exhibit respect for the teacher. Interactions among students are generally polite and respectful. Teacher responds successfully to disrespectful behavior among students. The net result of the interactions is polite and respectful, but business-like.	Classroom interactions among the teacher and individual students are highly respectful, reflecting genuine warmth and caring and sensitivity to students as individuals. Students exhibit respect for the teacher and contribute to high levels of civility among all members of the class. The net result of interactions is that of connections with students as individuals

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
2b: Establishing a culture for learning	The classroom culture is characterized by a lack of teacher or student commitment to learning, and/or little or no investment of student energy into the task at hand. Hard work is not expected or valued. Medium to low expectations for student achievement are the norm with high expectations for learning reserved for only one or two students.	The classroom culture is characterized by little commitment to learning by teacher or students. The teacher appears to be only "going through the motions, and students indicate that they are interested in completion of a task, rather than quality." The teacher conveys that student success is the result of natural ability rather than hard work; high expectations for learning are reserved for those students thought to have a natural aptitude for the subject.	The classroom culture is a cognitively busy place where learning is valued by all with high expectations for learning the norm for most students. The teacher conveys that with hard work students can be successful; students understand their role as learners and consistently expend effort to learn. Classroom interactions support learning and hard work.	The classroom culture is a cognitively vibrant place, characterized by a shared belief in the importance of learning. The teacher conveys high expectations for learning by all students and insists on hard work; students assume responsibility for high quality by initiating improvements, making revisions, adding detail and/or helping peers.

2c Managing classroom procedures	Much instructional time is lost due to inefficient classroom routines and procedures. There is little or no evidence of the teacher managing instructional groups, transitions, and/or the handling of materials and supplies effectively. There is little evidence that students know or follow established routines.	Some instructional time is lost due to only partially effective classroom routines and procedures. The teacher's management of instructional groups, transitions, and/or the handling of materials and supplies is inconsistent, leading to some disruption of learning. With regular guidance and prompting, students follow established routines.	There is little loss of instructional time due to effective classroom routines and procedures. The teacher's management of instructional groups and/or the handling of materials and supplies are consistently successful. With minimal guidance and prompting, students follow established classroom routines.	Instructional time is maximized due to efficient classroom routines and procedures. Students contribute to the management of instructional groups, transitions, and/or the handling of materials and supplies. Routines are well understood and may be initiated by students.

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
2d Managing Student Behavior	There appear to be no established standards of conduct, and little or no teacher monitoring of student behavior. Students challenge the standards of conduct. Response to students' misbehavior is repressive, or disrespectful of student dignity.	Standards of conduct appear to have been established, but their implementation is inconsistent. Teacher tries, with uneven results, to monitor student behavior and respond to student misbehavior. There is inconsistent implementation of the standards of conduct.	Student behavior is generally appropriate. The teacher monitors student behavior against established standards of conduct. Teacher response to student misbehavior is consistent, proportionate and respectful to students and is effective.	Student behavior is entirely appropriate. Students take an active role in monitoring their own behavior and that of other students against standards of conduct. Teachers' monitoring of student behavior is subtle and preventive. Teacher's response to student misbehavior is sensitive to individual student needs, respects students' dignity.

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
2e: Organizing physical space	The physical environment is unsafe, or many students don't have access to learning. There is poor alignment between the arrangement of furniture and resources, including computer technology, and the lesson activities.	The classroom is safe, and essential learning is accessible to most students. The teacher's use of physical resources, including computer technology, is moderately effective. Teacher may attempt to modify the physical arrangement to suit learning activities, with partial success.	The classroom is safe, and learning is accessible to all students; teacher ensures that the physical arrangement is appropriate to the learning activities. Teacher makes effective use of physical resources, including computer technology.	The classroom is safe, and learning is accessible to all students including those with special needs. Teacher makes effective use of physical resources, including computer technology. The teacher ensures that the physical arrangement is appropriate to the learning activities. Students contribute to the use or adaptation of the physical environment to advance learning.

DOMAIN 3 FOR CLASSROOM TEACHERS: INSTRUCTION

LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
3a: Communicating with students	The instructional purpose of the lesson is unclear to students and the directions and procedures are confusing. Teacher's explanation of the content contains major errors. The teacher's spoken or written language contains errors of grammar or syntax. Vocabulary is inappropriate, vague, or used incorrectly, leaving students confused.	Teacher's attempt to explain the instructional purpose has only limited success, and/or directions and procedures must be clarified after initial student confusion. Teacher's explanation of the content may contain minor errors; some portions are clear; other portions are difficult to follow. Teacher's explanation consists of a monologue, with no invitation to the students for intellectual engagement. Teacher's spoken language is correct; however, vocabulary is limited, or not fully appropriate to the students' ages or backgrounds.	The instructional purpose of the lesson is clearly communicated to students, including where it is situated within broader learning; directions and procedures are explained clearly. Teacher's explanation of content is well scaffolded, clear and accurate, and connects with students' knowledge and experience. During the explanation of content, the teacher invites student intellectual engagement. Teacher's spoken and written language is clear and correct. Vocabulary is appropriate to the students' ages and interests.	The teacher links the instructional purpose of the lesson to student interests; the directions and procedures are clear and anticipate possible student misunderstanding. Teacher's explanation of content is thorough and clear, developing conceptual understanding through artful scaffolding and connecting with students' interests. Students contribute to extending the content, and in explaining concepts to their classmates. Teacher's spoken and written language is expressive, and the teacher finds opportunities to extend students' vocabularies.

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
3b: Using questioning / prompts and discussion	Teacher's questions are of low cognitive challenge, single correct responses, and asked in rapid succession. Interaction between teacher and students is predominantly recitation style, with the teacher mediating all questions and answers. A few students dominate the discussion.	Teacher's questions lead students through a single path of inquiry, with answers seemingly determined in advance. Alternatively the teacher attempts to frame some questions designed to promote student thinking and understanding, but only a few students are involved. Teacher attempts to engage all students in the discussion and to encourage them to respond to one another, with uneven results.	While the teacher may use some low-level questions, he or she poses questions to students designed to promote student thinking and understanding. Teacher creates a genuine discussion among students, providing adequate time for students to respond, and stepping aside when appropriate. Teacher successfully engages most students in the discussion, employing a range of strategies to ensure that most students are heard.	Teacher uses a variety or series of questions or prompts to challenge students cognitively, advance high level thinking and discourse, and promote meta-cognition. Students formulate many questions, initiate topics and make unsolicited contributions. Students themselves ensure that all voices are heard in the discussion.

3c: Engaging students in learning	The learning tasks and activities, materials, resources, instructional groups and technology are poorly aligned with the instructional outcomes, or require only rote responses. The pace of the lesson is too slow or rushed. Few students are intellectually engaged or interested.	The learning tasks and activities are partially aligned with the instructional outcomes but require only minimal thinking by students, allowing most students to be passive or merely compliant. The pacing of the lesson may not provide students the time needed to be intellectually engaged.	The learning tasks and activities are aligned with the instructional outcomes and are designed to challenge student thinking, resulting in active intellectual engagement by most students with important and challenging content, and with teacher scaffolding to support that engagement. The pacing of the lesson is appropriate, providing most students the time needed to be intellectually engaged.	Virtually all students are intellectually engaged in challenging content through well-designed learning tasks and suitable scaffolding by the teacher. Learning tasks and activities are fully aligned with the instructional outcomes. In addition, there is evidence of some student initiation of inquiry, and student contributions to the exploration of important content. The pacing of the lesson provides students the time needed to intellectually engage with and reflect upon their learning, and to consolidate their understanding. Students may have some choice in how they complete tasks and may serve as resources for one another.

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
3d: Using Assessment in Instruction	There is little or no assessment or monitoring of student learning; feedback is absent, or of poor quality. Students do not appear to be aware of the assessment criteria and do not engage in self-assessment.	Assessment is used sporadically to support instruction, through some monitoring of progress of learning by teacher and/or students. Feedback to students is general, and students appear to be only partially aware of the assessment criteria; few assess their own work. Questions/prompts/assessments are rarely used to diagnose evidence of learning.	Assessment is regularly used during instruction, through monitoring of progress of learning by teacher and/or students, resulting in accurate, specific feedback that advances learning. Students appear to be aware of the assessment criteria; some of them engage in self-assessment. Questions/prompts / assessments are used to diagnose evidence of learning	Assessment is fully integrated into instruction, through extensive use of formative assessment. Students appear to be aware of, and there is some evidence that they have contributed to, the assessment criteria. Students self-assess and monitor their progress. A variety of feedback, from both the teacher and peers, is accurate, specific, and advances learning. Questions / prompts / assessments are used regularly to diagnose evidence of learning by individual students.

Component	Unsatisfactory	Needs Improvement	Proficient	Excellent
3e: Demonstrating flexibility and responsiveness	Teacher adheres to the instruction plan in spite of evidence of poor student understanding or students' lack of interest. Teacher ignores student questions; when students experience difficulty, the teacher blames the students or their home environment.	Teacher attempts to modify the lesson when needed and to respond to student questions and interests, with moderate success. Teacher accepts responsibility for student success, but has only a limited repertoire of strategies to draw upon.	Teacher promotes the successful learning of all students, making minor adjustments as needed to instruction plans and accommodating student questions, needs and interests. The teacher persists in seeking approaches for students who have difficulty learning, drawing on a broad repertoire of strategies.	Teacher seizes an opportunity to enhance learning, building on a spontaneous event or student interests or successfully adjusts and differentiates instruction to address individual student misunderstandings. Teacher persists in seeking effective approaches for students who need help, using an extensive repertoire of instructional strategies and soliciting additional resources from the school or community.

4c: Communicating with Families	Teacher communication with families, about the instructional program, or about individual students, is sporadic or culturally inappropriate. Teacher makes no attempt to engage families in the instructional program.	Teacher makes sporadic attempts to communicate with families about the instructional program and about the progress of individual students but does not attempt to engage families in the instructional program. But communications are one-way and not always appropriate to the cultural norms of those families.	Teacher communicates frequently with families about the instructional program and conveys information about individual student progress. Teacher makes some attempts to engage families in the instructional program; as appropriate Information to families is conveyed in a culturally appropriate manner.	Teacher's communication with families is frequent and sensitive to cultural traditions, with students contributing to the communication. Response to family concerns is handled with professional and cultural sensitivity. Teacher's efforts to engage families in the instructional program are frequent and successful.

Evaluator Signature: _____
(Name) (Date)*

Signatures reflect that the meeting was held by the appropriate deadline and that the plan will be implemented. Teachers and evaluators are expected to mutually agree to the plan. In the event that they are not able to come to an agreement, the evaluating administrator reserves the right to direct the activities required of the teacher. The teacher is expected to sign the plan but may provide a written attachment for their file indicating areas in which they disagree with the evaluating administrator.

*Must be within 30 school days of receipt of final summative evaluation.

Appendix A: Assessment Applications and Specialist Chart

All nationally-normed tests such as ACT and MAP are considered Type I assessments and by law can be used as Type II or III assessments if mutually agreed to by the teacher and evaluator. District Common Assessments are considered Type II assessments and will be utilized for the purposes of developing one of the Student Growth Objectives (SGO's), where available. At least one of the Student Growth Objectives (SGO's) must be a Type III assessment such as a teacher-developed assessments or student work sample or portfolio as identified in the Section Assessment Types for Student Growth. This provision applies to all sub-categories of classroom teachers at all grade levels where growth is applicable.

Teacher Category	Type I Assessments	Type II Assessments	Type III Assessments
PK-5 (includes all core and specialists plus all non-core such as art, music, PE, etc.)	MAP, PARCC, etc.	CDA (Common District Assessments), Fountas and Pinnell	Teacher developed, textbook developed, etc.
6-8 (includes all core and specialists plus all elective area teachers such as industrial arts, computers, art, music, PE, etc.)	MAP, PARCC, etc.	CDA, common writing rubrics, etc.	Teacher developed, textbook developed, etc.
9-12 (includes all core and specialists plus all elective area teachers such as industrial arts, art, music, PE, World Languages, business, etc.)	MAP, ACT, etc.	CDA, common writing rubrics, etc.	Teacher developed, textbook developed, etc.
