COMMUNITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE: STORIES OF SUPPORTERS  ........ 20

2021/22 SUPPORTERS  ...................................................... 22
Dear members of the UWC Dilijan community,

The 2021/22 school year was challenging again due to the pandemic and geopolitical situation, both of which created opportunities for us to learn more about ourselves and the world outside. Having been isolated on campus for almost two years, COVID left its mark on us all. The war in Ukraine, like the war in Nagorno-Karabakh, gave our tightly-knit community another first-hand experience we never imagined we would have.

We saw how our students, staff and their families were directly affected by conflicts, and we did our best to put ourselves in their shoes and make sense of it. We expressed every emotion possible, and we also stood by those who needed our support. The fact that we all cared was in the end what mattered. We showed that personal and collective acts of kindness made a big difference.

Nelson Mandela, who was the UWC President and Honorary President from 1995 until 2013, said, “The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall.” As I reflect on the past year, these words ring true again and again.

We all rose to the occasion going through the Council of International Schools (CIS) Evaluation Team Visit being awarded an international accreditation which benchmarks UWC Dilijan against many other international schools around the world and also provides a vehicle for continuous improvement. You can read more about the CIS accreditation on page 14.

As a community we could not have done it without those who are behind the school, our parents, alumni, volunteers and supporters. We are grateful to each and everyone engaged in the development of UWC Dilijan. A special thank you goes to our Board, chaired by Veronika Zonabend who, together with her husband Ruben Vardanyan, co-founded our wonderful school in 2014, and to the two of them and all our generous benefactors who are enabling our ambition to contribute to making the world a more equitable, peaceful and sustainable place. Our deepest gratitude to all the supporters of UWC Dilijan around the globe. You help UWC Dilijan continue its rise.

Gabriel Ernesto Abad Fernández
Head of College
As parents, Ruben and I feel that nothing is more precious to us than human life, and nurturing our own children to be caring and responsible has been our personal aspiration.

As social entrepreneurs, we aim to enable wonderful young people from around the world to realise their full potential and become caring and responsible individuals with universal human values.

Inspired by the vision of Kurt Hahn, who, in the wake of World War II sixty years ago, established the first United World College - Atlantic - in Wales, we feel special responsibility as UWC Dilijan is the only such school in the post-Soviet space. The UWC mission "to make education a force to unite people, nations and cultures for peace and a sustainable future" continues to be even more valid today.

We hope that all of us at UWC Dilijan and those who are part of our community can think together and individually how we can be bridge builders who work tirelessly to ensure that situations like that in Nagorno-Karabakh and currently unfolding in Ukraine do not arise. The preservation of peace depends on each of us nurturing and upholding human values, especially when it requires courage to stand up for your beliefs.

We call upon all members of our wonderful UWC Dilijan family to uphold peace, encourage dialogue and practise responsibility and international understanding. All those words in the UWC mission truly matter!

Let there be peace!

Veronika Zonabend and Ruben Vardanyan

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our 220 students come from 80 countries and are represented by the Student Council which

- Serves as a full representational body of students in the college, accommodating all voices, views and amplifying stances of “silent minorities”

- Acts as the medium between the student body, the college staff, and the college leadership team

- Oversees the implementation of new solutions and proposals

- Addresses different concerns raised by students in daily, academic, and residential life and proposes solutions to them

- Advocates for and builds upon the ideas and initiatives of the student body

- Shares all relevant information between the Toons and Student Council meetings

ALUMNI COUNCIL

We believe that our alumni act as ambassadors representing UWC Dilijan in every corner of the world. They are a closely-knit network and continue their interaction among themselves and with the college. We are delighted to see our alumni participate in college activities whether by speaking at the events, attending the graduation ceremony or simply visiting the college. The Alumni Council is an entity that represents and works on behalf of our alumni.

KATYA GURYEVA
UWCD’17, Russia

Katya was at the helm of our inaugural Alumni Council.

“For my dissertation, I was able to apply my learnings from the last four years to explore the potential for blue and green infrastructure in Yerevan, Armenia, a city very close to my heart.”

PARENT COUNCIL

Our parents are enthusiastic about getting involved and helping our community with onboarding parents and guardians of new students when they join the UWC Dilijan family, assisting with the UWC and UWCD promotion and fundraising, participating in career advice and university sessions, hosting students and providing internship opportunities for our students and alumni. The Parent Council, chaired by Majella Skansebakken, coordinates the parents’ efforts to help UWC Dilijan thrive. Even online they are able to make a difference!

The Class of 2022 parents made a gift of this open fireplace, which is a welcome addition on our spacious campus and will be enjoyed by students and staff for years to come.

Close to 40 alumni gathered at the school for the Class of 2022 Graduation
All the late-night pasta cooking in the common room kitchens, the hubs of discussions in the cafeteria while we would be complaining about the upcoming deadlines, the Fridays spent together roaming around Dilijan, the regional evenings, the never-ending practices in the gym leading up to it, the toon times, the karaoke contests as a way to break away from the stressful academics, and so much more. Sometimes I feel like the social aspect of UWC is overlooked because the actual learning happens outside the classrooms and the multicultural environment here is something a lot of us take for granted. I am so grateful UWC ‘has happened’ to me. I don’t think I will ever be able to fully ‘recover’ from this place, no matter where I go I will always, proudly and with my head held high, consider myself a part of this unique community.

Education lessens the challenges we face in life. Coming to UWC Dilijan, more opportunities have opened up to allow me to achieve better possibilities. I would like to see other students from rural areas having this experience. Considering all the challenges we faced as rural area students, my friends who are also studying abroad and I decided to open the first educational centre in our village. We aim to provide the rural area students with better conditions for education and enable them to explore opportunities for studying abroad. Returning as qualified specialists to Tajikistan they will be able to contribute to the development of the country.
Reflecting on my musical path now and prior to my time here, I can say that living in Armenia has brought my attention to finding deep value in world music. Being able to learn the duduk has encouraged this passion, while incidentally broadening my interests for the country’s culture. I find that familiarising oneself with the richness that other cultures offer, both expands the horizons of explorative possibilities and humbles the artist too.

In this light, after my time at UWCD I plan on progressing on the duduk and learning Armenian, and also travelling to India to learn the fascinating Carnatic rhythm tradition of Konnakol, while continuing to develop my abilities in jazz and composition.

Zarrin Mahdiyat Ali
UWCD’22, Bangladesh

Zarrin travelled over 4600 km to come to UWC Dilijan. It did not take her long to adapt in the diverse community of 80 nationalities and take on the responsibility of a core member of the Student Council, effectively connecting the student body with the leadership of the school.

Along with her academics, she maintained a balanced co-curricular programme, with a focus on social initiatives and projects both for and beyond the school community, such as peer support in her residential house and Red Cross volunteering.

Zarrin is the second student of UWC Dilijan who got the maximum IB score - 45. She is a student of the University of Chicago.

“UWC has allowed me to become a more perceptive and mature individual with a better understanding of real life and the world we live in.”

Maxim Meller
UWCD’22, Belgium and UK

Maxim is a versatile musician - he plays piano, duduk (an Armenian traditional instrument), guitar, clarinet and is currently learning to play saxophone. He is actively involved in the activities of the arts department at our school, contributing greatly to the organisation of visual art and music events.
TEACHING, CARING AND INSPIRING

Dinithi Bandaranayake
Sri Lanka

Dinithi heads the Science Department. She has a bachelor’s degree in marine and fisheries science from the National Institute of Fisheries and Nautical Engineering in Sri Lanka and a masters in Development Education and Global Learning from University College London. A marine biologist with experience in research, project management and education, Dinithi moved to Armenia with her family seven years ago and continues to enjoy teaching science.

Stylianos Tavoularis
Greece

Stylianos is a teacher of philosophy and Theory of Knowledge Coordinator. He joined UWC Dilijan when it opened in 2014. Initially, he had a teaching career in Sheffield and Crete but then started teaching philosophy and theory of knowledge in IB schools in Greece, Saudi Arabia, Armenia, Spain and China. Stylianos has a BA in Philosophy, Pedagogy and Psychology from the University of Athens, an MA in Classics from the University of Durham and PhD in Philosophy from the University of Sheffield.
CREATIVE ARTS AT UWC DILIJAN

The arts department is focused on nurturing and developing our young people’s creativity, revealing hidden talents, empowering them to create through collaboration, critical thinking and effective communication of ideas and concepts.

UWC Dilijan offers Theatre and Visual Arts as IB subjects and Instrumental Music as an activity for the students to develop their interest and skills in music. Staff are experts in their fields and are education leaders. They deliver their courses by building on the experiential and holistic ethos of the International Baccalaureate.

Working in outstanding facilities enhances students’ potential to produce their best possible work. These include a Black Box, music rooms, studios, a dark room, a ceramics studio and a workshop.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE YEAR

CIS INTERNATIONAL ACCREDITATION

Despite the pandemic, UWC Dilijan had been pursuing accreditation by the Council of International Schools (CIS) over the last few years, and as the 2021/22 academic year was coming to a close we received a formal status and can now proudly say that “We are a CIS internationally accredited school”.

Achieving the accredited status is a significant milestone in the development of our young school. As soon as Gabriel Ernesto Abad Fernández took over as Head of College in 2018, he set a goal of applying for CIS membership to start the accreditation process as it would allow the school to benchmark its performance against standards determined by CIS. The CIS International Accreditation is recognised by ministries, departments of education and universities as demonstration of a school's commitment to high quality international education. “The award of CIS accreditation recognises your school’s commitment to student well-being and high-quality learning and teaching as well as to global citizenship and intercultural learning,” the formal notification letter states.

Accreditation means commitment to continuous improvement and going through the evaluation process every five years. We will certainly have a lot to do to keep up the high standards and, in that sense, it is the beginning of ongoing work. But it is also a celebration of our achievements.

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the CIS Steering Committee and all the stakeholder groups who helped us with the evaluation process and who continue their engagement with UWC Dilijan to maintain a happy and healthy environment without sacrificing its academic rigour driven by the IB.

Suzanne Gaskell, Head of the English Department, led the college’s CIS accreditation process as Accreditation Coordinator.
The UWC Dilijan TEDx Youth Organisation team hosted the college’s first TEDx Event. The theme titled The Next Generation: Fight or Flight was inspired by the range of diversity of opinions of community members on campus and the ever-changing perspective in financial, social and political issues. Apart from the UWCD community, we also invited youth members from the Dilijan Community Center and esteemed guests from the Central Bank of Armenia, FabLab and other NGOs.

The Global Issues Forum was initiated by Aleksander Hycnar, UWCD’23 (Poland) and Miron Vitushka UWCD’23 (Belarus). A weekly activity on Tuesday afternoons, it is designed to give a platform for the community to discuss topics of the day in a constructive way. Aleksander and Miron believe that the Global Issues Forum creates opportunities to dig into current events and enables their better understanding in the community. Guests included Nanna Skau, World Food Programme (WFP) Deputy Director in Armenia (mother of Elias Skau, UWCD’22, Denmark) and Eric Hacopian, a 30-year veteran of American politics who now hosts a weekly political commentary show "Insights" on CivilNet TV in Armenia.

VIOLETTA KARPENKO
2022 ALUMNI IN ACTION AWARDEE

Violetta Karpenko, UWCD’17, Ukraine, was acknowledged for her extraordinary commitment as a volunteer to the UWC National Committee of Ukraine. With the responsibility for communications, Violetta had 237 applicants to process for 2022-24 - it was an even more difficult task during these very challenging for Ukraine times. On receiving the Alumni in Action Award Violetta, who was speaking from Germany, where she fled leaving her country, said,

"Getting involved in the UWC National Committee of Ukraine, I did not feel I was doing something big, it is my duty to give back, especially now."

INAUGURAL STUDENT IN ACTION AWARD PRESENTED TO NELE SCHULZ

Nele Schulz, UWCD’22, Germany, was nominated by the Head of College Gabriel Ernesto Abad Fernández for a special Student in Action award. The scroll that Nele received had the following words, “We gratefully acknowledge the extraordinary compassion, leadership and tremendous effort by Nele Schulz in driving a global campaign to support her fellow-student’s medical treatment.” Nele inspired the community when she launched an appeal to raise funds for urgent medical care of Seynabou Faye, our student from Senegal. Over €45,000 was raised in total to help Seynabou.
In October 2021 Samsung Electronics, in partnership with UWC Dilijan, launched a Samsung Innovation Campus (SIC) in Armenia. The goal of the Samsung Youth Innovation Campus is to contribute to the development of Armenia by equipping young people, through education, with skills that will not only improve their digital literacy, learning abilities, creativity and imagination, but also create conditions for their future interest in pursuing Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML) fields, crucial for the country to unlock its potential. SIC currently operates in 23 countries around the world, and approximately 160,000 students have gone through a SIC program as of 2020.

The three-year programme has been designed by Samsung for 14-16 year-old Armenian children and has the following objectives:

- Establish a learning hub for Armenian youth in the Tavush region
- Identify and nurture talented young people who can potentially choose technology and AI and ML specifically as their areas of focus for future studies and professionally
- Deliver a dedicated region-specific programme that could be scaled up.

DH Kim, President & CEO of Samsung Electronics, CIS RHQ, and Gabriel Ernesto Abad Fernández, Head of UWC Dilijan College, signing a Memorandum of Understanding for the establishment of the Samsung Innovation Campus in Armenia, 29 October 2021.
The Armenian children, who are selected to the programme based on their basic IT knowledge, enjoy access to the UWC Dilijan campus and study in a specially equipped Samsung lab under the tutelage of Samsung-trained Armenian instructors.

THE MAIN FEATURES OF THE PROGRAMME

- An integrated approach: taking into account the level of individual knowledge, basic knowledge of various areas of IT and programming is covered
- Project-based learning: development of an individual project for students in the form of a mobile application on the Android OS
- Targeting students of different levels: focus on the "core" of the programme and providing opportunities for additional in-depth study of specific topics

EXPECTED OUTPUTS

- An educational programme tailored to the local context that could be scaled up
- A cohort of educators trained in delivering the programme
- Annually 100 young people trained in the basics of IT and mobile application on the Android OS with a formal certificate issued by Samsung

ENABLING WORLD-CLASS EDUCATION FOR A DIVERSE COMMUNITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE

STORIES OF BENEVOLENT SUPPORT BY INDIVIDUAL DONORS, CORPORATE ENTITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS GIVING OPPORTUNITIES TO MANY STUDENTS TO STUDY AT UWC DILIJAN.

Ameriabank

Ameriabank and America’s Leadership Team generously support scholarships in UWC Dilijan. Every year Ameriabank allocates two full scholarships for Armenian students to study in the college. In addition, the leadership team collectively supports one student from Armenia.

As a school located in Armenia, we are proud to have such a prominent team and corporation as our premier benefactors in Armenia.

Ruben Arutyunyan

Ruben Arutyunyan, together with his wife Anahit Antonyan, has supported the school from the very beginning. Entrepreneur, influencer, businessman and a global Armenian, Ruben Harutyunyan has been one of the pioneers who has believed in, invested in and impacted Armenia’s future. Born and raised in Yerevan, he graduated from the State Engineering University of Armenia. In 1993 he moved to Moscow, Russia, where he founded and became general director of the Henderson-Russia Group of Companies, which is currently the largest menswear retailer in Russia that manufactures its products worldwide.

Geert Duyck & Inge De Lathauwer

Geert Duyck & Inge De Lathauwer and their family established a scholarship for an Indonesian student to attend UWC Dilijan starting September 2022. It is the first such scholarship, which makes it very special. They are strong believers in the power of education. Inge is a Founder of Sumba Hospitality Foundation, which aims “to end the circle of poverty and encourage young adults to dream big and empower them by education, training, and work experience” in the Sumba region of Indonesia.

Ruben Arutyunyan and Anahit Antonyan were the first people to support the 5th Anniversary campaign and have been supporters from the start.

Scholae Mundi Foundation aims to promote the most advanced approaches in the field of education, which in the long term will catalyse social changes throughout the world. It aims to create opportunities for young people to develop their knowledge, skills and nurture universal moral and ethical values that will guide them throughout their lives.

Together with partners, Scholae Mundi creates opportunities for young people from Armenia, Russia and Georgia to study in UWC Dilijan.

Ksenia Frank

Ksenia Frank is an impact investor who supports social and educational projects aimed at developing young talent and empowering women in entrepreneurship.

She believes in initiatives with a potential to nurture generations that will then go make a difference in the world around them and will be ready to take social responsibility. Ksenia Frank started supporting scholarships in UWC Dilijan in 2021.

Svet Foundation

Alexander Svetakov & Ksenia Sharoeva / Svet Foundation started supporting UWC Dilijan in 2021.

Svet Foundation was established by Alexander Svetakov in 2019 to support social initiatives in the field of education, culture and humanitarian causes. Its mission is to promote sustainable development of non-profit organisations and maximise their impact with an aim to empower benevolent social institutions on a long term basis.
