

Walmart Supports Crestwood Education

Crestwood classrooms received a stock-up on necessary classroom supplies like construction paper, folders, tissue, paper towels, and disinfectant wipes thanks to the generosity of Walmart in Bainbridge. Walmart's Teacher Rewards Program is intended to help teachers keep their classrooms stocked with supplies. The program has been in place nationwide for four years. This program allows each local store to choose one local school district to award $1,000 in gift cards. This year the Bainbridge store chose Crestwood Schools.

News from your excellent-rated school district!

Ohio Changes How It Rates Your Local School

Ohio is changing how it tells parents and communities about the academic progress of their schools. The new Local Report Card System is based upon A to F letter grades like most of us received when we were students. This system is intended to make it easier for everyone to know just how schools and districts are performing.

The new approach takes the place of the existing system that used six labels to describe school performance: Excellent with Distinction, Excellent, Effective, Continuous Improvement, Academic Watch and Academic Emergency.

Here's how the new system works. Schools and districts will receive letter grades in six broad categories:

- Achievement: How well students are doing against national standards of success.

- Gap Closing: This measure looks at whether students in all racial and demographic groups are making gains.

- Graduation Rate: High schools and districts will be graded on how well they do helping students earn diplomas.

- Progress: This will include grades for gains made by students classified as gifted and those with disabilities so that no group falls through the cracks.

- K-3 Literacy: This measure looks at how many students in kindergarten through Grade 3 are reading on grade level.

- Prepared for Success: This component measures students' college and career readiness.

Together, grades in these six areas will be combined to produce a single overall performance grade for the school or district. While grades in most specific areas will begin in August 2013, overall grades will not be issued until August 2015. This will give schools time to adjust to the new system and focus their efforts on being successful in all areas that are being measured.

Ohio's new Local Report Cards will also include other important information, such as how many students earn college credits in high school, graduate with honors, receive credentials that prepare them to directly enter the workforce and if they are ready for college and careers. These items, which will be graded as a group but not individually, are for information only and will not be assigned letter grades.

In coming months, the State Board of Education will be working with educators and communities to determine how to award letter grades in each of the categories listed above. The new report cards will be published online starting in August. For updates and more information, go to newreportcard.education.ohio.gov.

Middle School Boasts County Spelling Champ for Fourth Consecutive Year

Tuesday, January 29, Ephraim Oliphant, a seventh-grader at Crestwood Middle School joined the spelling dynasty of champs along with Amanda Fosnight, David Hill, and his older brother, Sam Oliphant. Callie Mo, an eighth grader, came in fifth place this year and qualified to advance with Ephraim to the Akron-Summit Public Library auditorium on March 9 at 1 p.m. to compete in the Akron Beacon Journal Regional Spelling Bee. Although Madeline Turner did not place, she performed with confidence and dignity and remained to the end of the bee to support her fellow spellers.

Congratulations to all on a job well done, and good luck to Ephraim and Callie.

Crestwood Teams with Hiram College to Promote Student Growth

Crestwood Local Schools is fortunate to have Hiram College as a close neighbor to form partnerships with that aid student growth, for both the Crestwood students and Hiram students. Currently, Crestwood schools and Hiram are involved in two partnerships – a social skills group at the primary school and a tutoring program at the middle school.

The primary school is worked with students from Hiram's Human Growth and Development Class for four weeks.

The focus of the sophomore class was on the social-emotional development of young children. The college students partnered with kindergarten, first and second grade students to engage in literacy activities, create coping strategies to deal with emotions and to learn how to play cooperative games.

One Hiram student, summing up her experience, "Every Thursday morning, I had the honor of getting to know three individual students for four straight weeks. During this field experience, I was able to spend time with each student and learn about their interests, personalities and families." The project encouraged the students to continue to follow our Crestwood Pride as a School Wide behavior expectation program.

The middle school has benefitted from the Hiram partnership for five years. Students enrolled in Human Growth and Development and Learning Theory class. The placement at Crestwood allows gives the Hiram students the opportunity to apply the social/emotional and growth and development theory they are learning in class, while fulfilling requirements for field experience, said Roxanne Sorrick, Associate Professor at Hiram College. Meanwhile, middle school students benefit from small group and one-on-one tutoring leading up to the Ohio Achievement Assessment in April.

Superintendent's Letter . . .

Mr. Joseph Iacano
Superintendent

Last month I attended a long awaited meeting in Columbus where Governor Kasich spoke to superintendents about his proposed changes to school funding. Kasich's proposal is another attempt of many to revamp school funding in an effort to comply with the Ohio Supreme Court ruling in the late 1990s that declared Ohio's funding formula unconstitutional.

At the meeting superintendents were given the impression that, under this proposal, any district that had local property valuations of less than $250,000 per pupil would likely receive increases in state aid. Since Crestwood's per pupil valuations are approximately $143,000 per pupil it appeared that Crestwood would qualify for an increase in state funding. He also stated that no district would receive less state funding next year than it did this year.

Several days after the meeting the state released projections for each district in the state. The projections for Crestwood showed NO change in funding...no increase, no reduction. Newspapers across the state, including local newspapers, have quoted many superintendents and treasurers who have indicated that they do not fully understand how the projections for individual school districts were derived. We too are trying to reconcile the apparent discrepancies between what was stated at the meeting and the district projections we received.

What is the bottom line with state funding and Crestwood? First, keep in mind that the governor has simply made a proposal and that nothing is law until it is debated, modified, and voted on by the legislature between April and June. In the meantime, we will be sharing our thoughts with local legislators as to how the funding proposal can be improved to further assist Crestwood and similar districts.

Secondly, it is important to remember that if state funding for Crestwood is flatlined, i.e. no additional funds but also no cuts, then Crestwood will still be at least a little bit better off for the next two years than we originally projected, since we, like most districts, built anticipated funding reductions into our financial forecasts.

The accompanying chart attempts to give an overview of the funding structure as it stands now. Look for additional updates in Crestwood Comments and area papers as the budget process continues to unfold over the next few months.

Governors' Proposed Funding Program: Key Points

This is the governor's proposal---it is not law. It is likely to go through significant analysis and recommendations for changes from legislators and lobbyists in both the Ohio House and the Ohio Senate before it will be presented as legislation. Final legislation could be presented in late spring or early summer.

Proposal	Impact on Crestwood
No district would receive less funds in FY 14 and FY 15 than they do this year (FY13)	This would help Crestwood since we have built reductions in state funds into our forecast
5.9% and 3.2% increases in state-wide funding for FY14 and FY15	Affect on Crestwood would be determined by how the increases are distributed to school districts across the state. Governor's projections for Crestwood show flat funding for up to two years...no increase, no cuts.
No change to existing levels of tangible personal property tax replacement payments	No change
Additional funds will be targeted for special needs students and for equal access to early childhood education	Allocation method is not yet clear. No clear benefit to Crestwood.
Grant funds available for innovative programs	Not clear, but appears to be related to shared services and other cost-containment initiatives
$8 million for school safety grants	Allocation method not yet clear
Every district would get as much from the first 20 mills of property tax as well-off districts that have $250,000 of property value per student (this would be at the current 96th percentile)	Crestwood appears to be in the middle percentiles since local property currently generates about $143,000 per pupil. If this portion of the plan becomes law it would seem that Crestwood would receive additional funds. Individual district projections, however, show no increase in funds. We are trying to understand this apparent contradiction. One possible explanation is that the state's per pupil funding has been reduced from about $5700 to $5000, so even an increase based on property values would be offset by this per pupil reduction.

High School Hosts Third Annual Eighth Grade Night

On the evening of Tuesday, February 12, Crestwood High School held their third annual Eighth Grade Night for parents and students of the incoming graduating class of 2017. Around three hundred parents and students flooded the halls of the high school as they took in the sights and sounds of what it will be like to be a student at CHS. Composed of three separate informational segments, Eighth Grade Night is the first real step that Crestwood eighth graders and their families take in order to begin the transition from a middle school to a high school student.

Eighth graders and their families were invited to spend time hearing from college representatives from Kent State University and Cuyahoga Community College on how to schedule high school classes depending on students' future goals, were given information on the uses and importance of college readiness tests, and were offered some insights on the college application process. In a separate segment, parents and students heard from their future Crestwood High School counselors on educational options available to them, what it takes to become a graduate of CHS, and some guidelines for building a freshman schedule.

The highlight of Crestwood High School's Eighth Grade Night, however, is always the showcase segment, and this year was no exception. Forty five tables were placed around the CHS gymnasium to give the guests an opportunity to experience all aspects of high school activities, ranging from academics, to clubs, to sports and recreation, to music. Both current CHS students and faculty worked hard on table presentation in order to relay as much useful information to guests as possible, as well as to compete for the coveted "Eighth Grade Night Showcase Table Winner" acknowledgment. Judging for the winning table is based upon the appearance of the table, the level of creativity in table presentation, and how clearly the message of the table was portrayed. Our 2013 Eighth Grade Night Showcase Winner was the CHS Science Club table for its highly informative and interactive setup; as well as for the evident enthusiasm of its presenters.

Show What You Know on Statewide Assessments, What Families Can do to Help Students be Successful

By Mary Ann Strenk, Coordinator of Curriculum and Instruction

State testing time has arrived and students throughout the district have the opportunity to show all they have learned this year. Judging from the exciting projects, and hard-working teachers and students, Crestwood should have no problem earning Excellent status again. At school we have taught the content, demonstrated test-taking strategies, and targeted individual weaknesses for intervention, but there are other helpful items your child can do at home.

EAT: Balanced meals with protein-rich foods for dinner and breakfast.

SLEEP: 10-12 hours should be the goal, especially if you have multiple days of testing in a row. Wake up a little early so the morning routine isn't rushed.

TALK: Talking to your child about the testing and what it involves can help relieve some of the stress inherent to the process. Children are not expected to know everything on each test. Encourage them to simply do their best. This is their opportunity to show all they know.

PRACTICE: The following site is a great resource for previously released test questions with explanations of the answers. Students should be familiar with the format and content.

MAKE IT FUN: Surprise your child with a note in their lunch and words of encouragement.

What Should I do if my Child gets Head Lice?

Head lice are active year round but seem to have waves of increased incidences. Students who come to school with lice or nits 1/4" from the scalp will be sent home. They can return to school after being treated. The following information from the Ohio

Department of Health may help to keep these insects in check.

What are head lice?

- Head lice are yellowish-white to brown insects that live on the human scalp.
- Lice don't have wings, and they cannot fly, hop, or jump. They crawl quickly.
- Head lice are about 1/8 of an inch long.
- They survive by ingesting blood through the scalp.
- They die within 2 days of being off the scalp.
- Itching of the scalp may be the first sign of head lice.
- Most often, what you will see are the oval eggs (nits) which have been laid on the hair shafts about 1/4inch from the scalp.
- Lice do not cause disease; they are more of a nuisance and cause embarrassment.

How do you get it?

Lice are passed from direct personal (head-to-head) contact. This is why young children are more likely to get them. They can also crawl onto combs, brushes, hair ties, hats, coats, helmets or towels and then crawl onto the next person who uses it. Lice can live on any person's head. If one of your children has lice, check the hair of everyone else in your house.

Lice are not passed in swimming pools, and you cannot get them from pets.

How do you get rid of head lice?

1. Apply a lice-killing hair product only to those in the household who actually have head lice or nits.

2. Remove the nits. Work under a good light and divide the hair in sections. Look through each section of hair for nits, starting at the scalp and working outward. Remove the nits by pulling down the length of the hair with your fingernails. Put the nits in a trash bag and throw them away. A metal lice comb may help.

3. Clean the home. Wash all bedding, towels and recently worn clothing in hot water and dry in a hot dryer for 20 minutes on high heat. Non-washable items (such as stuffed animals or wool coats) can be dry-cleaned or sealed in a plastic bag for two weeks. Vacuum the upholstered furniture, rugs and car seats. Soak combs and brushes in very hot water for 10 minutes. The Ohio Department of Health advises not to spray the home. The lice will die in 24-48 hours of being away from the scalp.

Follow up by checking everyone's hair daily for at least 7-10 days. If more lice or nits are found, you will have to remove the nits and clean the home again. Call your doctor about head lice treatment:

- If you are pregnant or breastfeeding.
- For children under 2 years old.
- If the skin of the scalp is broken or infected from scratching.
- If there are lice in the eyebrows or eyelashes.
- If the head lice continue after two treatments with the lice killing hair product.

Grant Brings iPads to Art Class

Students at the Intermediate building have enjoyed using new iPads in the Art Room. The art teacher, Patty Timbrook, received the iPads through the Hiram Community Trust grant. The iPads enhance learning about art through the use of technology. Students have used them to research artists, reference paintings, as well as create their own virtual pottery. The grant, also intended to promote art within the community, has funded two Saturday field trips to the Cleveland Museum of Art. Crestwood Intermediate students and their chaperones will use the interactive iPads while touring the museum. The iPads will offer audio and video segments, interactive floor plans of the museum and other tools to gain a deeper understanding of the art collection.

Middle School and Hilltop Church Compete for Acts of Kindness

Prior to the winter break Reverend Jeff Jackson, pastor of Hilltop Church, challenged the middle school students to compete against his entire congregation to see who could initiate the most acts of kindness in one day. If the church won, the students would have to conduct a food drive and if the students won, the church would provide an ice cream party to the students. Middle school students quickly accepted the challenge.

The middle school students were able to record more acts of kindness in one day, earning the building-wide ice cream party. However, to show their appreciation, students still held the canned food drive and collected 255 cans for 4Cs in just two days.

The contest was part of Rachel's Challenge, a program to promote kindness and compassion throughout the school, the district and the community. Rachel's Challenge is a program started by Darrell and Sandy Scott, the father and stepmother of Rachel Scott, the first student killed in the Columbine shootings in April 1999. The middle school initiated the program the beginning of the 2012-2013 school year.

Intermediate School Spring Program will be Held March 21

Fourth Grade students Madeline Chesla, Austin Johnson, Dominic Arotin (front) and Julianna Dakin practice their recorders for the upcoming Spring Music Program. The program "Hungry To Learn: A Day in the Life of a Fourth Grader" will be presented on Thursday, March 21 at 6 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. at the Intermediate School.

Honor a Loved One by Planting a Tree

What a great way to honor a family members' life, that inspirational teacher, a major milestone or the life of a special someone.....plant a tree that will continue to grow and flourish and represent all of these.

The Outdoor Education Committee established the Memorial Tree Garden at the Primary and Intermediate Schools in 2005 and would like to continue this great tradition.

R.C. Giel Landscaping., a local landscape company, has made available a selection of native trees for the area. These trees will be planted on the Elementary Schools Campus. The cost of each tree is $250. The price includes the planting of the tree, care and a plaque. The permanent plaque will state the species of the tree, the date, and the name of the person, family, group or event that is being honored.

If you are interested in placing an order for such a wonderful gift, you can obtain an order form on the district web site or from the Primary School. Return the form to the Primary Building in care of Lee Dean by Friday, April 12, 2013. Please make checks payable to Crestwood Primary PTO (Outdoor Education Committee in memo line). For additional information, please contact either Lee Dean at 330-357-8202 or ndean@crestwoodschoools.org or Jo Walsh-Cobb at CIS.
