Dependency Status Results – Independent

STUDENT INFORMATION

Independent Student Status

You are considered an “independent” student. This means you are not required to answer questions about your parents.

However, you may want to answer questions about your parents if

- you are a law school or health profession student (such as a medical or nursing student), or
- your school requires parental information from all students.

Would you like to answer questions about your parents? Ⓛ

☐ Yes

☐ No

Independent students do not have to answer questions about their parents.

Students over the age of 24 are automatically considered independent.

Independent students will move directly to the tax filing status section.
Most students under the age of 24 are considered dependent and are required to answer questions about their parents.

Students under the age of 24 may have special circumstances that could allow them to be considered independent.

Dependency Status Results – Dependent

STUDENT INFORMATION

Dependent Student Status

Based on your answers to the dependency status questions, you are considered a "dependent" student. This means you must provide parental information. Select the "I will provide information about my parent(s)" option and "Continue" to continue filling out your FAFSA® form.

If you have a special circumstance and are unable to provide parental information under very limited circumstances, you may be able to submit your FAFSA® form without parental information. Select the "I am unable to provide information about my parent(s)" option and "Continue" for additional information.

- [ ] I will provide information about my parent(s).
- [ ] I am unable to provide information about my parent(s).

Dependency Status Results - Dependent

STUDENT INFORMATION

Impact of Not Providing Parent Information

If you continue to complete the application without providing parent information, the following will occur:

- We will not transfer any parent information from your last year's application into this year's FAFSA® form.
- We will not calculate your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), which colleges use to determine your financial aid package.
- You may be limited in the types of federal student aid that you are eligible to receive.
- You must follow up with the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend in order to find out how much student aid you are eligible to receive.
Dependency Override

Though the following reasons may be relevant when combined with other circumstances, these situations do not on their own qualify as reasons for students to request a dependency override.

• The student demonstrates total financial independence or self-sufficiency.

• The student’s parents are unwilling to provide information on the application or for verification.

• The student does not live with their parents.

• The student’s parents do not claim the student on their federal or state tax forms.
Whose Information Should I Provide?

For additional assistance determining what parent information to report on the FAFSA® form, refer to Who’s my Parent When Filling Out the FAFSA® form fact sheet.

Since you have been identified as a dependent student, you will need to provide information about your parent(s). You must identify and report information about your parent(s) even if you don’t live with him or her. Use the following criteria to determine whose information you should report in the “Parent Demographics” and “Parent Financials” sections of the FAFSA® form:

- My parents live together (married or unmarried).
- My parents are divorced or separated, and I live with one parent more than the other.
- My parents are divorced or separated, and I live with both parents equally.
- I was legally adopted.

State Financial Aid for Undocumented Students and Other Select Applicants

If a student is eligible for federal aid, they should complete the FAFSA in order to maximize financial aid awards. There are limited circumstances, beyond the applicant's immigration status, in which a person may choose to complete a WASFA instead of a FAFSA, including:

- Your parents are undocumented, or your family members do not wish to file a FAFSA.
- You or your parent(s) do not and will not file federal income taxes.
- You have federal loans that are in default.
- You owe a repayment on federal grants.

WASFA Eligibility Questions

WASFA QUESTIONNAIRE

The Washington Application for State Financial Aid (WASFA) is for people who don’t file a federal FAFSA application. People who complete a WASFA are applying for state aid. There are various reasons to complete a WASFA instead of a FAFSA:

- A person may not be eligible for federal aid due to:
  - Citizenship or immigration status, including being undocumented.
  - Defaulted federal student loans.
  - Repayments owed on federal grants.
- A person may choose not to apply for federal aid due to:
  - Family members who do not want to file the FAFSA.
  - Other personal reasons.

After you complete the WASFA, the college(s) or program(s) you choose will determine whether you meet state residency requirements and state financial aid eligibility. State financial aid could include Washington College Grant, the College Bound Scholarship, Passport to Careers, National Guard Grant, or State Work Study.

The following questions will confirm if the WASFA is the correct application for you.

- In general, a person may be considered a disabled worker if he or she:
  - Is receiving unemployment benefits due to being laid off or losing a job and is unlikely to return to a previous occupation;
  - Has been laid off or received a lay-off notice from a job;
  - Was self-employed but is now unemployed due to economic conditions or natural disaster, or is the spouse of an active duty member of the Armed Forces and has experienced a loss of employment because of relocating due to a permanent change in duty station;
  - Is the spouse of an active duty member of the Armed Forces and is unemployed or underemployed, and is experiencing difficulty in obtaining or upgrading employment;
  - Is a displaced homemaker. A displaced homemaker is generally a person who previously provided unpaid services to the family (e.g., stay-at-home mom or dad) is no longer supported by the spouse, is unemployed or underemployed, and is having trouble finding or upgrading employment.

If a person quits work, generally he or she is not considered a disabled worker even if, for example, the person is receiving unemployment benefits.

Information for Youth in Foster Care

College Board Scholarship: The College Board Scholarship is a state-funded program managed by the Washington Student Achievement Council. It is an early promise of state financial aid to help pay the education after high school. The scholarship combines with other financial aid to cover college tuition at similar public college rates, some fees, and some money for books. If you have been in foster care any time from grade 9 to age 21, you are automatically enrolled in the College Board Scholarship program. You will still need to apply for financial aid with a FAFSA or WASFA beginning your senior year.

Passport to Careers Program: This scholarship encourages Washington’s youth in foster care to prepare for and succeed in college, pre-apprenticeships, and apprenticeships. You can receive scholarships for some types of aid that will help pay tuition and fees. This program is available for up to five years of college at approved schools in Washington. You will receive guidance from college academic and financial aid counselors, assistance with college applications, and financial aid. You can receive funding for qualified school-related expenses, including books, tuition, and fees. Funding is limited and available on a first-come, first-served basis to eligible students. FAFSA can help pay for these expenses such as tuition, fees, books, housing, food, transportation, and other educational costs.

Washington State Governor’s Scholarship for Foster Youth: This scholarship helps youth in foster care continue their education and earn a college degree. Scholarship awards vary depending on the college you attend, and are available for up to five years. You must be enrolled full-time and maintain satisfactory grades in order to renew the scholarship each year.
