News from your excellent-rated school district!

Board Places 4.7 Mill Emergency Levy on Ballot

Another round of state budget cuts forced board members to consider an emergency levy for the November ballot. For more than a year the district has suffered from loss of federal and state funding and has, until this point, responded with cuts in staff, salary freezes, technology reductions, and overall district-wide and building budgets. With the reality of deficit spending looming, the board is now asking for additional funding.

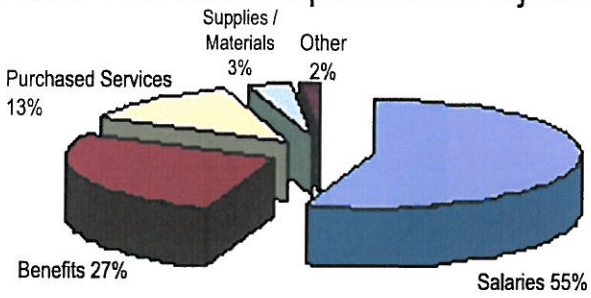

"Despite years of tightly managed budgets and ongoing reductions, we cannot recover from the ongoing loss of state funds without new money" said Superintendent Joe Iacano.

The district's goal is to maintain an excellent rating and continue to provide quality education and a reasonable depth in programs and services for students. Some programs and services have already been cut, like middle school foreign language.

"The only other option available to the board is to continue cutting," Iacano said. These cuts would come from the highest budget categories, such as personnel, programs and services, resulting in higher class sizes in the lower grades and fewer course offerings in the upper grades.

A 4.7 mill levy will generate $1.4 million dollars over the next four years. This is well below the cuts imposed by the state, totaling approximately $1.8 million. The district has already initiated cuts to address part of the deficit.

Fiscal Year 2013 Expenditure Projection

When a district looks to cut budgets, it looks to the highest expense categories first and to impact academic activities the least.)

NATALIE HARR NAMED PAEMST FINALIST

Crestwood Primary first-grade teacher Natalie Harr has been named as a finalist for the Presidential Awards for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching (PAEMST) award, the highest award for outstanding teaching in the United States. Since 1983, more than 4,100 teachers have been recognized for their contributions to the classroom and to their profession. Harr is one of only two Ohio teachers to be nominated for the completed year of 2011.

Harr is being nominated for her work in 2011 with Dr. Richard Lee (an extreme entomologist from Miami University) in Antarctica, where she spent six weeks researching a unique Antarctic fly. During her trip, she stayed in contact with students of Crestwood and other districts through a blog. Students even participated in lessons and activities based upon her journey. Upon returning from her trip, Harr shared her insight while continuing to exhibit excellent instruction in her classroom, leading to her nomination for the award.

The awards ceremony will be held at a monthly State of Ohio Education Board meeting, but a set date is yet to be determined. As a state finalist, Harr will compete with other state finalists at the national level, with winners being selected by a national committee. Winners of the PAEMST award receive a signed certificate from the President of the United States, a paid trip for two to Washington, D.C., and a $10,000 award from the National Science Foundation.

Leadership Class Ends with Annual Retreat

By Karlie Lieberth

"A leader is one who knows the way, shows the way, and goes the way." This was the motto for this year's leadership class. Each year, the culminating activity of the class is a leadership retreat at which CHS students apply to attend. Led by Ms. Amy Mitchell and Mrs. Kristy Jones, this year's retreat theme was the Game of L.I.F.E. (Leadership in Full Effect). More than 100 students attended the retreat held at Camp Carl May 4 - 5.

The purpose of the retreat is to have students step out of their comfort zone, and more importantly, learn leadership skills that they can take with them for the rest of their lives. Each delegate on the retreat belonged to a family group with either one or two family group leaders who were a part of the leadership class. Family group leaders led their groups in a series of team-building and character development activities throughout the weekend. The retreat was a major success for all who attended. Many Crestwood staff members and local community members attended to lead breakout sessions to teach delegates about leadership skills and life lessons.

On Saturday afternoon the delegates were able to participate in one of three high ropes courses.

The atmosphere of the retreat was extremely positive. Tori Chiller commented, "It was a great learning experience. I had a blast!" Many comments like this were made by the delegates as well as the adults who witnessed this life-altering experience.

Crestwood Local School District Hires Treasurer

Crestwood Local Schools has hired former Salem City Schools treasurer, Jill Rowe, to serve as treasurer for the district. Rowe is an Ohio native, born in Alliance and a graduate of Marlington Local Schools. Upon graduating high school, Rowe accepted a softball scholarship with Kent State University, ultimately graduating in 2000 with a degree in accounting.

Her professional career began with an internship at the State Auditor's Office, which led to a full-time position that she held for over five years. At this point in her career, Rowe recognized her desire to serve as a school treasurer. In 2005, the transition to education began with an assistant treasurer's position at Summit Academy. She spent more than two years at Summit Academy before accepting the position of treasurer for Salem City Schools.

Throughout her tenure at Salem City Schools, Rowe was successful in helping to remove the district from fiscal watch. In July 2007, she developed building level general funds budgets to put into place a budgeting process for the district. Rowe, working directly with the Superintendent, administrators and supervisors, was able to complete the set budgets, ensuring that funds were being spent properly and in the best interest of the students.

In addition to the achievements already mentioned, Rowe has exhibited excellent training skills with new employees, skilled relationships with other members of administration and superior negotiation skills to save money without compromising quality or sacrificing needs. The attention to detail, high levels of productivity and ability to multitask make Rowe an excellent fit for Crestwood. We are excited to have her on board.

Welcome to Crestwood, Jill!

Superintendent's Letter: Crestwood at a Crossroads

Value

It is our hope that residents view education at Crestwood as a great value. For example, although we have the lowest local operating tax millage in Portage County, our students academic scores are among the highest in the county. Last year, for example, Crestwood was one of only two districts in the county that met all 26 standards on the Ohio Local Report Card in achieving a "excellent" rating. Preliminary indications are that the new district report will be very positive as well.

Conservative Budgeting and Spending

Over the past several years Crestwood has strategically reduced staff and expenditures in order to compensate for decreasing enrollment. With 340 employees in 2003 and only 249 this year staff has been reduced by 26% over the past 10 years.

Significant Reductions in State Funds

Last year the State of Ohio significantly reduced aid to almost all school districts across the state due to the recession. Crestwood's state funding was reduced by $1.8 million between July 2011 and July 2012 with an additional state reduction of at least $600,000 anticipated in 2013.

Anticipating these reductions, Crestwood has already reduced expected spending from last year to this year by approximately $1.2 million including about $1 million in salaries and benefits alone. This is due mainly to eliminating 5 ½ teaching positions, 1 central office administrator, 1 central office secretary and a custodial position, as well as replacing several other retiring teachers with lower-paid replacements.

Why a levy?

Despite these large reductions we still project a deficit by the end of the 2013-2014 school year. To eliminate the deficit, the law requires Crestwood to either increase revenue, or reduce expenditures even more.

Crossroads

Should residents approve new revenue in the November election Crestwood would gain an additional $1.4 million dollars per year for each of the next four years, thus keeping the district in the black. This would allow us to maintain most current educational programs, extra-curricular programs, and current support services related to transportation, guidance, food-service, etc.

Without new revenue Crestwood would be forced to enact additional significant spending cuts that would likely negatively impact class sizes, availability of high school and middle school electives, extra-curricular activities, and support services. This would result from anticipated layoff of 10-20 employees across all categories.

More Information and Discussion

The Treasurer Jill Rowe and the Superintendent Joe Iacano will be scheduling opportunities for staff, PTO and support organizations, and for the general public to provide updates and to discuss options and priorities. We also encourage citizens to attend the regularly scheduled board meetings on September 10 and October 8 at 7:00pm at Crestwood High School. Watch for announcements of 'special' board meetings and other opportunities as well.

In the meantime we encourage those who have questions to call the superintendent or the treasurer at 274-8511.

Crestwood High School Teachers and Students Pioneer the American Experience Academy

Last school year high school students essentially recreated pioneer life right on the high school grounds, including building a log cabin. A team of three teachers, Drew Pavelek (English), Andy Brown (Science), and Angus McDougal (History) undertook a cross-curricular challenge to not only integrate English, Science and History, but give students the opportunity to apply critical thinking skills, learn philosophy, public speaking, teaching, and ethics. This idea came to fruition after a waiver day session for teachers focusing on rigor and relevance.

The year began with an emphasis on the environment and students learned the significance of testing water and identification of live-trapped animals. The students used this information to create a dichotomous key of wildlife in Ohio. Andy Brown took the lead and linked students to the Department of Natural Resources. Students used seining nets, electro-shockers, coyote trackers and other methods to identify species within the region. Journals documented student observations. Other science activities included tanning deer hides, calculating wood needs for pioneers, and learning survival techniques are just a few examples.

Drew Pavelek integrated English and philosophy into the class through book discussions and literature reviews. Neil Postman became a favorite author with Amusing Ourselves to Death as students developed an understanding of the impact electronic media has on society. Students learned to question news stories and articles in the search for truth. They were challenged to be independent thinkers and to be skeptical of propaganda and its impact on society. Students searched for motives and studied how media altered the course of American history. Debates challenged students to research and fully understand both sides of arguments. Students were challenged to analyze their own beliefs and ethics became a guide for sound decisions.

The construction of the log cabin not only represents the authentic methods necessary for construction during pioneer days, but the transformation in thinking that arose as students truly "lived" through this time period and experienced life on the frontier. Physical labor opened worlds of accomplishment as students, under the direction of Angus McDougal, split wood and notched logs. As the cabin took shape, students and teachers willingly gave up their evenings and weekends to complete the task. Another weekend brought the Ramrod Busters who instructed students on making candles, weaving fabric, cooking over a fire, surveying, playing games, dancing, the significance of the musket in taming the frontier, and other aspects of that time period.

Finally, elementary students were invited on a fieldtrip to the high school where the academy students took their learning to the highest level by becoming the teachers. They prepared lesson plans complete with learning objectives and hands-on activities. They focused on questions that would challenge the younger students to think critically.

The year ended with a class banquet where each student was presented with a tin cup and special message from their teachers: "A tin cup is different from many other cups earned through achievement: The World Cup, America's Cup, the Ryder Cup, and the Stanley Cup. All of these cups are built to be held up, put in trophy cases or on the mantle, to be seen, but not touched. The tin cup is created to be dropped, dented, placed in the fire, used every day without desire to be displayed or propped up in any way. The tin cup pulls its weight and yearns to be useful. Like the tin cup, academy students desire to achieve through hard work and dedication. They didn't spend the year grinding through the intense course with the hopes of placing this experience on a shelf. Instead, they will use their tin cup, day in and day out. They will not wait for rewards or admiration; they will go out and continue to earn recognition for the work that is done on a daily basis. They will be the tin cup and nourish all that come into contact with them."

Students in the class described it best when they referred to this as an "Experience of a Lifetime."

Middle School Open House Leads Students and Families Through The School Day

The middle school open house is set up for students and families to familiarize themselves with the middle school block schedule. Following is the schedule:

6:00 - 6:30 p.m. Welcome
Students and parents walk around the building, visit with our PTO officers, and sign up to volunteer for CMS activities, and pick up any forms you may need to fill out (Free/Reduced Lunch forms, Permission to Dispense Prescription Medication forms, etc.). At this time student results from the 2012 Ohio Achievement will be passed out.

6:30 - 7:10 p.m. Schedule Rotation
Report to the student's first period class (in 7th grade – second period) to begin the structured portion of the evening. Parents will rotate through their child's four core classes every 10 minutes to meet the team of teachers, receive an overview of each class, and hear about teacher expectations.
The rotation will be: Language Arts-Social Studies–Math-Science. For example, if your child's first class is Math, you will rotate from Math to Science to Language Arts, and finally to Social Studies.

7:10 - 7:30 p.m. Star Classes
Parents are invited to visit their child's Star Class teachers such as band, health, physical education, etc.

7:30 - 8:00 p.m. Closing
Parents and students are free to walk around the building and visit anywhere. This is a good time for parents with multiple students at CMS can visit the other teachers.

2. Who can get free meals? All children in households receiving benefits through the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) or Ohio Works First (OWF) benefits can get free meals regardless of your income. Also, your children can get free meals if your household's gross income is within the free limits on the Federal Income Guidelines.
3. Can foster children get free meals? Yes, foster children that are under the legal responsibility of a foster care agency or court, are eligible for free meals. Any foster child in the household is eligible for free meals regardless of income.
4. Can homeless, runaway and migrant children get free meals? Yes, children who meet the definition of homeless, runaway, or migrant qualify for free meals. If you have not been told your children will get free meals, please call or email Teri Beck to see if they qualify.
5. Who can get reduced price meals? Your children can get low cost meals if your household income is within the reduced price limits on the Federal Eligibility Income Chart shown on this application.
6. Should I fill out an application if I received a letter this school year saying my children are approved for free meals? Please read the letter you got carefully and follow the instructions. Call the school at [phone number] if you have questions.
7. My Child's application was approved last year. Do I need to fill out another one? Yes. Your child's application is only good for that school year and for the first few days of this school year. You must send in a new application unless the school told you that your child is eligible for the new school year.
8. I get WIC. Can my child(ren) get free meals? Children in households participating in WIC may be eligible for free or reduced price meals. Please fill out an application.
9. Will the information I give be checked? Yes, we may ask you to send written proof.
10. If I don't qualify now, may I apply later? Yes. You may apply at any time during the school year. For example, children with a parent or guardian who becomes unemployed may become eligible for free and reduced price meals if the household income drops below the income limit.
11. What if I disagree with the school's decision about my application? You should talk to school officials. You also may ask for a hearing by calling or writing to: Teri Beck 330-274-2246
12. May I apply if someone in my household is not a U.S. citizen? Yes. You or your child(ren) do not have to be a U.S. citizen to qualify for free or reduced price meals.
13. Who should I include as members of my household? You must include all people living in your household, related or not (such as grandparents, other relatives, or friends) who share income and expenses. You must include yourself and all children who live with you. If you live with other people who are economically independent (for example, people who you do not support, who do not share income with you or your children, and who pay a pro-rated share of expenses), do not include them.
14. What if my income is not always the same? List the amount that you normally receive. For example, if you normally make $1000 each month, but you missed some work last month and only made $900, put down that you made $1000 per month. If you normally get overtime, include it, but do not include it if you only work overtime sometimes. If you have lost a job or had your hours or wages reduced, use your current income.
15. We are in the military, do we include our housing allowance as income? If you get an off-base housing allowance, it must be included as income. However, if your housing is part of the Military Housing Privatization Initiative, do not include your housing allowance as income.
16. My Spouse is deployed to a combat zone. Is her combat pay counted as income? No, if the combat pay is received in addition to her basic pay because of her deployment and it wasn't received before she was deployed, combat pay is not counted as income. Contact your school for more information.
17. Why am I being asked about giving my consent for an instructional fee waiver? Ohio public schools are required to waive the school instructional fees for children who quality for free meal benefits. School Food Service personnel must have parent consent to share student meal application if your child(ren) quality for a fee waiver. If you agree to allow your child(ren)'s meal application to be shared with school officials to see if he/she/they qualifies for a fee waiver then check "yes" in part 5. If you do not wish for that information to be shared, then check "no" in part 5. Answering no to this question will mean your child will not be able to be considered for a fee waiver. Answering this question either way will not change whether your child(ren) will get free or reduced price meals.
18. My Family needs more help. Are there other programs we might apply for? To find out how to apply for Ohio SNAP or other assistance benefits, contact your local assistance office or call 877-852-0010.

Did You Know?

Cyberbullying occurs when a child is embarrassed, harassed, humiliated, threatened, or tormented by another child using the Internet, mobile phones or another interactive and digital technology. Just as genuine a concern as bullying, cyberbullying has resulted in children killing others or even committing suicide.

Cyberbullying occurs when minors are on both sides of bullying or if the bullying was at least instigated by a minor against another minor. Some of the more common means in which a child is victimized by cyberbullying include repeated e-mails or instant messages, posting real or doctored images online, sharing intimate information against a child's will and encouraging other children to share in the bullying.

Breaking into online accounts, such as e-mail or social networking accounts, is also considered cyberbullying.
