Head of School

August 12, 2022

Dear GSA School Community:

I want to welcome you to the 2022-2023 school year at George Stevens Academy. I am excited to see all your children again, and to meet our new families. You have made a great choice for your child by being a part of this learning community.

We have been working hard all summer to get ready. After the various disruptions and challenges of the last few years, our goal is to do a reset of our community, and create together the welcoming, supportive and challenging learning community we want. My goal is that we all have as positive, productive and fun year as possible. (Education is serious business, to be sure but students learn best when they enjoy and look forward to coming to school, and so fun is important.)

This mailing is full of important nuts and bolts information. Please read it all carefully.

I look forward to the coming school year. Schools work best for students when parents at home, and the adults on campus, work together and cooperate well, and I believe GSA is the finest high school in Hancock County because of that cooperation. At the heart of such cooperation is communication. This mailing is the first official piece of that communication, so, again, please read it all carefully, and let us know if you have questions, by calling the main school number, 374-2808, where you will be directed to the appropriate person.

I know we will have a great year together.

Respectfully,
