

Dear Granny Sue,

Next week, the annual Providence Reading Rally begins! For one month, I will read, read, read—with the dual goals of improving my reading skills and raising money for our school.

Each student is asked to get pledges from friends and family members. Your financial sponsorship will encourage me to hit my goal and will help to raise needed funds for the Providence Scholarship Fund.

You can pledge per-minute read or a flat sum. I have to warn you that I intend to go for gold: that means that I will be reading _____ minutes or more over the course of the rally.

Any support will be appreciated. Please let me know at what level you would like to support me. I will collect the money in February, after Reading Rally ends.

Thank you so much!

Love,

Ruth Anne
