

A Variety of Skills - Madelynn Kueter

In life, it's safe to say that the average individual is a "this or that" kind of person. Madelynn Kueter, on the other hand, is an "all of the above" kind of person. Not only is she a stellar student, she is also a talented stage performer and a committed athlete. What advice does Madelynn have for students considering getting more involved? "Go for it!"

Currently in her junior year, Madelynn has opted for a rigorous course load of honors and AP classes. One class in particular has made her a familiar face on campus. She is currently one of the sports anchors on KMRG broadcasting to classrooms each week. You might also recognize her from her role in the most recent drama production, Dracula.

But she's not done yet! Madelynn has played tennis for Mesa Ridge for the past two years and plans to continue doing so in the spring. One of Madelynn's biggest commitments, though, lies outside the school. She is currently a member of the under-19 girls team for the Colorado Springs Tigers, a club hockey team that competes with other teams from across Colorado and New Mexico. She has been playing for 6 years and currently plays in the attacking positions as a left winger or right winger.

How does she find time to do it all? "You definitely have to have good time management." She also credits the strategies she has learned in AVID with keeping her organized.

From the classroom to the stage to the arena, Madelynn Kueter exemplifies the grit and versatility of Grizzly greatness. In the words of Madelynn, don't be afraid to "go for it"!
