

Cooking for Celiacs | January 19, 2023, 6:00 pm-7:00 pm-Meeting Room A

Have you ever wondered what it is like cooking for a celiac? How does it work? What is involved? Join Susie and Hal Truax, as Hal has been a Celiac for 27 years, for answers to these and other questions. Recipes and ideas will be shared. Registration is required, and is available by logging onto www.avonlibrary.net.

Daniel Boone: America's Finest Frontiersman | January 31, 2023, 6:00-7:00 pm-Meeting Room A

Danny Russel's dynamic portrait uncovers the complex character of a man whose astonishing life was far stranger and more fascinating than the myths surrounding him. He initially spent months researching and compiling the show during visits to Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Missouri—traveling more than a thousand miles to learn where and how Boone lived, hunted, fought, and dreamed of the next frontier.

Talking About the Iditarod | February 15, 2023-6:00 pm-7:00 pm-Meeting Room A

Karen Land is a writer, public speaker, library-lover, and a 3-time Iditarod participant, giving Iditarod dog mushing presentations at schools and libraries across the country. To date, she has delivered over 1000 talks in 35 states. In the sport of mushing, a sled dog team is often referred to as a "string of dogs." Her current string is made up of an Alaskan husky named Noggin and a Corgi-Springer mix named Chloe. Join them on their adventures...

Train Display | February 18, 2023-10:00 am-3:00 pm-Meeting Room A

Come see this great train layout! One day only!

Medicare 101 | February 21, 2023-5:30 pm-7:30 pm-Meeting Room A

Medicare 101 offers easy to understand, comprehensive, informational tools to help guide seniors turning 65 through the seemingly complex world of Medicare planning. Our workshops cover topics like how each part of Medicare A through D works and information you need to make personalized decisions.