

What is the Affordable Connectivity Program?

The Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP) is a U.S. government program run by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) program to help low-income households pay for Internet service and connected devices like a laptop or tablet. The Affordable Connectivity Program is an FCC benefit program that helps ensure that households can afford the broadband they need for work, school, healthcare and more.

If your household is eligible, you could receive:

-Monthly Internet service that is fully covered through ACP benefit

-A one-time tablet or device that is fully covered through ACP

-Only one monthly service and one device is allowed per household.
