School Closed Due to Inclement Weather:

- The April 3, 2023 Flex Day will be used on the first inclement weather call-off day. In order for students to remain on the same calendar schedule, there will be no in-person, remote, or virtual instruction.
- Remote instruction will be utilized for any additional school closings due to inclement weather which means teachers will offer “live” Zoom instruction to students for each of their scheduled class periods. During “live” instruction, when the class periods are not reduced, teachers will complete attendance for each period.
- Teachers may deliver instruction from home. This includes developmental preschool teachers. Designated instructional support staff will assist instruction from home or school.
- The Nathaniel Jones Early Learning Center will be closed for full day and Loving Care students.
- Pike Township Loving Care will also be closed at all locations.

Remote Instruction Day Due to Inclement Weather:

During a remote instruction weather day, students will have live “synchronous” instruction from 8:00am to approximately 11:40am. After the student and teacher lunch times, students will complete their day asynchronously by working on assignments in Canvas. Further, teachers will offer office hours to meet with students from 12:20pm - 3:00pm, as needed.
